LBJ Doesn't Talk Of Dues Question To U.N. Delegates

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — President Johnson appealed to a politely applauding 20th anniversary session of the United Nations Friday to help find a peaceful settlement for Viet Nam.

But some delegates openly, and others privately, voiced disappointment that the President ignored the questions of U. N. financial troubles, unpaid dues, and a deadlock on Soviet voting rights.

Johnson flew in from Kansas City and addressed a special session of the U. N. General Assembly commemorating the founding here of the United Nations just 20 years ago.

Confers With U Thant

Afterward, he conferred for more than an hour with U. N. Secretary General U. Thant. Aides reported the two did not mention money matters.

They did discuss Viet Nam, the Dominican Republic and what White House Press Secretary George E. Reedy termed "other places in the world." The meeting ran far longer than expected.

Then Johnson conferred with his ambassador to the United Nations, Adlai Stevenson. This gave a boost to speculation that Stevenson might have been assigned to talk about finances and any ideas the United States might have for solution when he delivers the closing address of the anniversary meeting today.

Johnson considered peace the primary concern of the world, by the words of his own speech and the emphasis he placed on it. This brought a solid round of applause.

He also summoned members of the world organization to:

Band together in an "alliance for man," declare an international war on poverty, halt the arms race, set up a U. N. peace-keeping force, and meet the pressing challenge of a world-wide population explosion.

Johnson said five dollars spent on population control is equal to a hundred dollars spent on economic expansion. But he saw other areas needing attention.

"The most urgent problem we face is keeping of the peace," the President told the special session.

"Today, clear and present dangers in Southeast Asia cast their shadow across the path of all mankind."

"The United Nations must be concerned."

"Therefore, today I put to this world assembly the facts of aggression, the right of a people to be free from attack, the interest of every member in safety against molestation, the duty of this organization to reduce the dangers to peace, and the unhesitating readiness of the United States to find a peaceful solution."

Algiers Site Of Gathering Hit By Blast

ALGIERS (AP) — A mysterious explosion Friday night wrecked part of the electrical system in a building put up for the Asian African summit conference. Witnesses said at least 40 workmen were injured.

It was uncertain whether the new structure, overlooking the Mediterranean 12 miles west of Algiers, could be made usable for the scheduled start of a preliminary foreign ministers' conference this afternoon.

Rumors Denied

A government spokesman blamed the blast on a circuit failure. He denied rumors sweeping Algiers that a bomb had been set off by antigovernment terrorists seeking to sabotage the conference. He reported only two workers injured.

Unconfirmed reports said the blast killed at least five persons.

The explosion went off in a power relay through which electricity is fed into the elegant convention hall built on a sand dune at the Club des Pins.

Armed security forces ringed the conference site. About 20 Egyptians working on the buildings were detained — apparently in the investigation of the blast.

Violence at the conference site, antigovernment demonstrations in downtown Algiers Friday night and an atmosphere of unrest made it likely that the summit meeting will be postponed.

Hundreds of demonstrators marched into the heart of the city at the evening rush hour, shouting "down with dictatorship" and demanding restoration to power of deposed President Ahmed Ben Bella.

Motorcycle police drove head-on into the columns of marchers and others fired repeatedly into the air and threw tear gas in an effort to put down the latest demonstration.

Algeria's new strongman, Col. Houari Boumedienne, appeared determined to prove his regime could maintain order during the big gathering — if there is one.

An hour later an uneasy calm descended on the capital. Troops and riot police took up positions about ten yards apart along the main streets.

The drive to postpone the summit session made headway as six Asian countries, led by India, began a backstage campaign for delay. A group of Arab countries were actively seeking some face-saving formula to save Algeria's prestige.

Bonds To Build At Northeast Sold By Board

BATON ROUGE (Special) — The Louisiana Board of Education Friday sold $3 million in bonds to finance construction of two new dormitories and a cafeteria at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Best bidder was Russ and Company, San Antonio, Tex., whose bid averaged 3.86935 percent interest rate per annum for the 40-year bonds.

The sale came on the first day of a two-day program of business for the board.

The group also authorized McDonald and Baker Company of Metairie to advertise for sale of $2,650,000 in revenue bonds to finance construction of a dormitory and new dining hall at McNeese State College.

The Northeast dormitory plans include new residence facilities for both men students and women students.

Each of the residence halls is expected to cost about $1,250,000 and will house 400 students. The cafeteria and dining facility will cost an estimated $500,000. All will be air conditioned.

The dormitories will be of a similar design to other residence facilities constructed recently, and will feature suite-type rooms with connecting baths.

In other business Friday, the education board adopted a resolution by Fred Benton Jr., the group's bond attorney, that directed college officials to require out-of-state students to reside in living accommodations which would be financed by the new bond issue.

This was done, he said, to maintain the attractiveness of bonds sold to construct such college facilities.

Architects for the three Northeast projects, already named by the board, are: William H. Woodward, Lake Charles, men's dormitory; Luther E. Frink, Arabi, women's dormitory; and Cimini and Mercier, New Orleans, cafeteria.

Ruston Grad Wins Crown At Festival

RUSTON (Special) — Queen Dixie Gem XV, Georgianna Lopes of Ruston, sponsored by the Ruston Culture Guild, and a resident at the Methodist Children's Home here, won out Friday night over 20 other contestants at the Louisiana Peach Festival's beauty pageant held at Howard Auditorium.

Miss Lopes, 17-year-old blond-haired, green-eyed Ruston high graduate, and formerly of Monroe, was also named Miss Congeniality by the other contestants.

Queen Crowned

Queen Dixie Gem XIV Miss Lynn Baughman of Farmerville crowned the new beauty as the standing-room-only crowd looked on.

Winner of the Princess Peach Contest was Miss Lisa Ann Blackwelder, age 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Blackwelder of Ruston.

There were 27 entries in the Princess Peach Contest.

First runnerup in the Queen Dixie Gem pageant was Diane Marie Burnum, who also won Thursday night in bathing suit competition. Miss Burnum is a 1964 graduate of Jonesboro-Hodge High School and a sophomore at Louisiana Tech.

Second runnerup in the pageant was 18-year-old Trebie Candice Stewart of Ruston. Miss Stewart is a 1965 graduate of Ruston High School.

Miss Sarah Lewis of West Monroe was in the top ten semi-finalists.

Miss Lopes will begin her official reign today as she accompanies the Lincoln Parish County Agent, the LSU Extension horticulturist, and the press on tours of Lincoln Parish peach orchards.

She will be "ambassador-at-large" for the Louisiana peach industry, representing growers at state agriculture events and state and national beauty pageants.

Two Louisiana peach queens, including Miss Baughman, have reigned as Sugar Bowl Queens at New Year's Day festivities in New Orleans.

Miss Baughman, in her farewell appearance as a peach queen, told the audience, "This was the most wonderful year of my life," as she reminisced about her twelve months of official activities as Queen Dixie Gem XIV.

Allies Discount Major Trouble Over Germany

BERLIN (AP) — The East German Communists sharpened their demands Friday for control of access routes to West Berlin.

Western Allied officials said, however, they did not expect a major crisis to result.

"We must watch all activities carefully," said one official, "but I do not believe the Soviets would allow the East Germans to go so far as to generate a confrontation with the West."

Generally Western diplomats said, the Communist probes so far indicate only that the Russians have given the East Germans permission to push their claims of sovereignty up to a certain point.

Scattered Rain Forecast Today

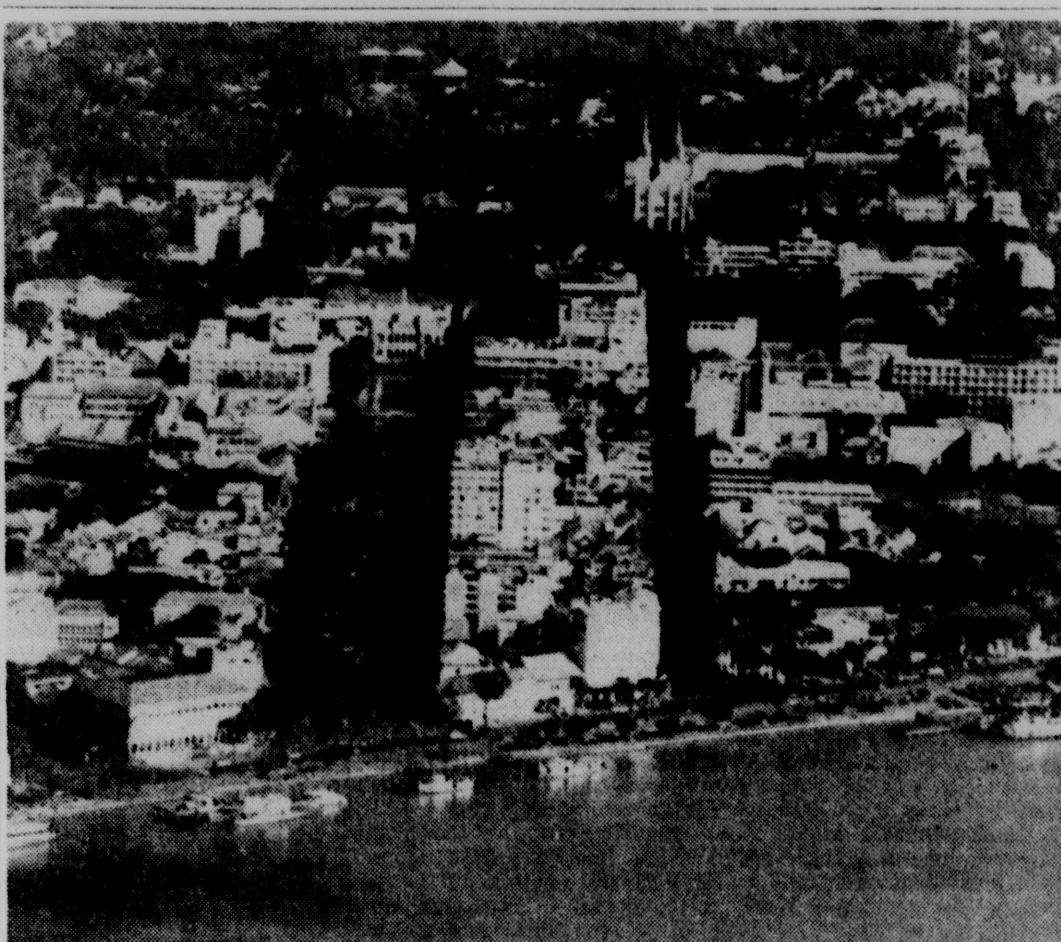

Partly cloudy skies with scattered afternoon showers sums up the weather outlook for the Twin Cities and surrounding area through today.

Predicted extremes for the area are 87 to 93 and 68 to 74. Thunderstorms are forecast over some parts of the area which saw scattered showers Friday.

FAA at Selman Field recorded 1.13 inches of rainfall Friday, but some sections of Monroe and West Monroe had no rain whatsoever.

Friday's high and low were 85 and 71.

Winds today will be southeasterly at five to 15 miles per hour.

Terrorist Bombs Splinter Saigon's River Restaurant

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two powerful terrorist bombs exploded in quick succession beside a crowded floating restaurant on the Saigon River Friday night, killing at least 29 persons and wounding about 100. Five or six Americans and a Frenchman were among the dead.

Witnesses had believed the death toll might reach 50.

The terrorist strike, staged about 500 yards from the U. S. Embassy, was the bloodiest of its kind ever seen in Saigon at any time during the Vietnamese war.

The double-barreled blasts boomed from the shore about 8:15 p.m., slashing across the luxuriously appointed decks of the restaurant, the My Canh, felling strollers on the riverside boulevard and smashing windows as far as two blocks away.

It was a violent sequel to a Communist announcement, broadcast six hours earlier by Radio Hanoi, that the Viet Cong had killed a captive American, U. S. Army Sgt. Harold George Bennett, Perryville, Ark., in reprisal for the Vietnamese government's execution of several Viet Cong terrorists.

Among other developments of the day:

In the air war, a U. S. spokesman announced U. S. Air Force jet bombers struck at a Vietnamese air base and the Na San airfield northwest of Hanoi and destroyed buildings at both.

A Tass, Soviet news agency, dispatch from Hanoi declared American jets appeared over that Communist capital and drew anti-aircraft fire. It said that, in this and other action, five planes were downed. There was no independent confirmation.

In Washington the Defense Department denied flatly that any American planes were lost over Hanoi.

A Pentagon spokesman declined to comment when asked whether American aircraft had flown over the North Vietnamese capital.

On South Viet Nam's battle fronts, U. S. spokesmen reported three Americans had been killed over a 24-hour period.

The terrorist bomb strike left the My Canh's decks and the boulevard pavement slick with blood.

Dining on choice Chinese food and French wine aboard the gently bobbing My Canh were nearly 100 Vietnamese and Americans, including U. S. advisers in from field duty with Vietnamese military units.

They were prime targets of the explosions, which left both decks a smoking, smouldering mass of broken bulwarks, smashed tables and splintered crockery. Others hit were on the boulevard nearby, seeking relief from the heat in early night breezes.

U. S. investigators said one of the bombs was a powerful shaped charge — possibly an American-made claymore electric mine — planted in the bank of the river near the restaurant's awning-covered gangplank. The claymore is an aimed device, exploding in the direction in which it is pointed.

Dropout Wins School Grant

CLAY CROSS, England (UPI) — Roy Mellor, 33, said Friday he is glad he went back to the school he left as a 14-year-old dropout.

For there, as caretaker for the past six years, he found time to study that enabled him to win a scholarship to Oxford University.

"I was absolutely astonished when I got the news," Mellor said. "I took the correspondence course before I decided to have a go at the scholarship, but I never thought I stood a chance."

Mellor said he plans to study English, economics and industrial relations at Ruskin College, Oxford, after surrendering his $33.60 a week job.

"If I am successful I could be allowed to continue studying for a degree," he said.

Mellor's scholarship is the first to be awarded by the National Union of Public employees to commemorate former General Secretary Bryn Roberts.

Economic Speech Echoes

Martin Scorns Pessimism

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Federal Reserve Board Chairman William McChesney Martin made it plain Friday that he thinks overly pessimistic interpretations have been given to a widely publicized speech he made three weeks ago.

Speaking June 1 at Columbia University, Martin said there are "disquieting similarities" between the 1965 economic situation and conditions that prevailed just before the great depression of the 1930s.

Although he cited many dissimilarities as well, his remarks were widely interpreted as a warning of a possible recession. It helped trigger a sharp slide in stock market prices.

In a speech prepared for commencement at the Stonier Graduate School of Banking, Rutgers University, Martin said "Recent experience has taught me to be wary. I am sure there would be some who — no matter what I said about differences as well as similarities — would interpret my remarks as a prediction that we will be overrun by barbarians — and in a matter of minutes, at that."

"Nor will I venture comparisons with historic periods in the American past. If I should so much as mention the year 1814, for example, I dare say there would be some to accuse me of advocating that the City of Washington be put to the torch again."

"But I am not discouraged by that. Instead, I am heartened by the capacity for sober understanding that has been evidenced to me in recent days by many thoughtful men and women, throughout our country."

Martin devoted most of his speech Friday to international monetary matters, but he made a reference also to congressional critics who have accused him of precipitating past recessions by tightening credit.

The Federal Reserve chief said central banking is an art rather than a science.

"At all times," he said, "the central banker needs to be aware of the risk that the country might slide into either inflation or deflation. At all times he will be subject to criticism that he is leaning too far to one side or the other, and he will be urged to do the exact opposite of what he is doing at the moment."

"Hence, he will always be in the middle."

Martin stressed his conviction that economic well-being at home is tied closely to international economic conditions.

He suggested that if additional international money is needed to replace the dollar, "there is much to be said for adapting the International Monetary Fund mechanism to this purpose and building upon its tested and respected institutional framework."

84 Persons Dead In Flaming Crash

EL TORO, Calif. (AP) — A jet transport carrying Okinawa-bound Marines slammed into a mountain ridge and disintegrated Friday. All 84 aboard were killed.

The four-engine C135 hit less than 1,000 feet from the ridge top moments after it took off at 1:44 a.m. in a fog for Honolulu. Had it skimmed over the ridge, there would have been clear flying ahead.

The big Service plane skidded up the slope, then nosed over. Its tail whipped over the ridge top and the fuselage apparently exploded.

Bodies Shredded

The plane, bodies and luggage were shredded, with some fragments hurled three-quarters of a mile.

Aboard were 72 Marines from all over the country, recently processed at Camp Pendleton, Calif., for transportation as replacements to the 3rd Marine Division on Okinawa.

Okinawa is a staging area for troops being sent to Viet Nam and other Far Eastern points.

The plane was from McGuire Air Force Base, N.J., and had an Air Force crew of 12.

The wreckage was spotted at dawn through a hole in the fog by a helicopter search pilot, Radar Chief Warrant Officer John Andre, 46.

"This is the worst air disaster I've covered in 24 years of service, including Korea and World War II," he said.

The area, 40 miles southeast of Los Angeles, is in the Santa Ana Mountains, brush and cactus-studded hills that border the Marine air station here.

Hundreds of Marines swarmed over ledges and gullies, groping through swirling

Stennis Calls For Arms Budget Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., called Friday for an immediate increase in President Johnson's defense budget because of heavy U.S. military involvement in South Viet Nam. In response, the Pentagon released a statement by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara which said a supplemental budget request may be required next year, "depending on future developments in Southeast Asia and possibly elsewhere in the world."

But McNamara said the budget for the coming fiscal year "is adequate at the present time."

Stennis, chairman of the Senate Defense subcommittee, told the Senate, "A peacetime budget is being used to support combat operations which were not factors in the original planning. 'The drain of the Viet Nam operations on our military resources is substantially greater than is generally recognized," he said. "The men, equipment and material sent to Viet Nam come out of the hides of the military services."

A House-passed $42.5 billion military appropriation bill now awaits Senate action. This is $60.6 million less than President Johnson asked.

Congress already has voted a special $700 million fund for Viet Nam at Johnson's request, but Stennis said this was inadequate.

"The Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps are all experiencing manpower problems, particularly in the more critical skills," Stennis said.

"Problems with respect to equipment and materiel — including aircraft, ships and certain weapons — already exist and are growing. Maintenance, supplies and spare parts also present existing problem areas. They will become more serious in the future," he said.

Pilots In Derby To Make Monroe Stops July 3-5

Pilots in the annual Powder Puff Derby — the All-Woman Transcontinental Air Race — will be including Monroe's Selman Field as a major stop-point in their competition, July 3-5.

A local delegation will be on hand at the field to greet participants who stop, according to Chairman Louis D. Smith of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce aviation committee.

Pilots stopping will receive hospitality kits, free coffee and a "heartily welcome." Committeemen also will secure motel reservations for those wishing to stop over at Monroe.

A total of 78 entrants are in the race from El Cajon, Calif., to Chattanooga, Tenn. At stake are $3,000 in prizes for the top five winners, and an engraved silver bowl for the pilot placing first.

With Monroe at the end of Leg No. 5 of the race, from Midland, Tex., local officials will give prizes for winners in that leg.

LSU Law Dean To Present Tideland Case For State

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Gov. John McKeithen said Friday Dean Paul M. Hebert of the Louisiana State University law school has agreed to present to the U.S. Supreme Court Louisiana's case for a coastline settlement.

McKeithen told his news conference the state has a "real good" coastline case.

He and Atty. Gen. Jack Gremlion revealed the state is preparing a final push in the tidelands ownership case.

Gremlion, reached in San Antonio, Tex., expressed hope for a federal government move in the Supreme Court this fall to fix a coastline or name a master to fix the coastline.

This is the line from which measurement will begin to determine the three-mile offshore boundary awarded earlier to Louisiana by the high court.

Judge Conducts Court Session In West Monroe

Judge John McCormick Friday presided over a docket dealing mostly in traffic violations in West Monroe City Court.

Fined $300 and costs for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and $100 and costs for no driver's license was J. B. Ward of Shreveport.

Sam Ross of 417 Oakland St., West Monroe, was fined $100 and costs for carrying a concealed weapon and $30 and costs for public drunkenness.

Jeff W. Spence of Fairbanks was fined $100 and costs for theft by check.

Reckless driving cases and dispositions were Curtis C. Banke of Powerdy, Tex., $50 and costs; Leonta P. Duke of 2316 Nye St., West Monroe, and James P. McCall of Soudheim, both $25 and costs fines; Leo Asley of 117 Splane St., West Monroe, D. Gibson Jr., of 426 Benson St., West Monroe, and Chester A. Calhoun of Rt. 1, Box 259, Monroe, all $20 and costs fines; Omer D. Adams of 301 Circle Dr., West Monroe, $10 and costs fine; and M. E. Blazier of 3008 N. 12th St., West Monroe, and Charles E. Chilton of 434 Martin St., West Monroe, charges withdrawn for both.

Speeding cases and dispositions were William M. Cole of Rt. 2, Box 484, West Monroe, and Wayne Hairston of Bastrop, both $20 and costs fines.

Three Area Men Donate Property As School Sites

VIDALIA (Special) — The Concordia Parish School Board accepted the donation of 30 acres of land for school sites and $5,000 at a special session of the board held at Vidalia Thursday.

Sen. Jamar Adcock of Monroe and William Boles of Rayville donated 20 acres located on the south boundary of the town of Ridgecrest between Ferriday and Vidalia.

Lee Calhoun, of Ferriday, donated 10 acres of land and $5,000 for the school site of the proposed Sevier School at Ferriday.

The board also purchased 20 acres for the site from Calhoun at a cost of $65,000.

Parish Superintendent of Education J. O. Lancaster Jr., on behalf of the board, expressed sincere thanks "to these gentlemen for their donations." He said the board is very grateful and appreciative for their interest shown in the parish school system.

In other action the board approved a request for use of the Sevier Elementary school and the Concord High School for project headstart.

The approval of an easement across school property in the lower section of the parish was granted to the REA to build an electric line.

Ten persons were appointed by the board to teaching positions effective the next school year. They were: Norma Watson, Minnie H. Martin, Minnie T. Jones, all for Sevier Elementary; Ruthie Mae Jones, Sevier High; Glen Eades and Carolyn Eades, Vidalia Jr. High School; Miss Elizabeth Shaw, Vidalia Elementary; M r s. Thelma L. Bryant, Monterey High; Mrs. Grace Hensarling, special education, Ferriday Jr. High; Miss Judith Brown, unassigned.

Resignations accepted Thursday were as follows: teachers, Richard Alwood, Benny Milligan, both of Vidalia Jr. High, Mrs. Betty Williams, Vidalia Elementary, Sallie Hunt, Clayton Elementary; coach, L. F. Matulich, Ferriday High School; janitor, J. L. Southern, Ferriday Elementary.

Some $800 million is impounded in the tidelands ownership dispute between state and federal government.

McKeithen predicted if Louisiana can win federal legislation to allow the state some revenues off the tidelands oil and gas production it could give the state more than $50 million a year.

He indicated there may not be any quick decision on an interim agreement that would give Louisiana some $21 million in uncontested funds from the escrow fund.

McKeithen said a visit to the Interstate Oil Compact Commission meeting in Pittsburgh, Pa., showed "we're getting a lot more sympathy" from other states concerning the effects of production offshore on oil allowances.

Lincoln Parish Signup Today For 'Headstart'

RUSTON (Special) — Parents can register their children at six different sites in Lincoln Parish today for "project headstart."

Calvin Wilkerson, staff director for the eight-week program for pre-school children, said registration for the parish-wide project will be held from 4 to 7 p.m.

Children from five-and-one-half to six-year-olds are eligible, Wilkerson said.

He listed the following sites: Greenwood Elementary School; Lincoln Elementary School; George Moore School, and Zion Hill Church; Ruston; Hopewell School, Dubach; and St. Rest Elementary School, Choudrant.

"Headstart" classes will start Tuesday morning at 8 a.m.

The Lincoln Parish Parent-Teacher Association received a $65,703 federal grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity to conduct the program for children from low income families.

Twenty-four teachers and an equal number of neighborhood representatives will provide the "headstart" staff for 350 youngsters.

Parish, State Voters On Rolls Decline Slightly

Voter registration in Ouachita Parish and the state as a whole dropped slightly from April 30 to May 31, the Board of Registration reported Friday.

The May 31 total registration in the state was 1,188,396, compared to 1,190,163 April 30, a decrease of 1,767.

Ouachita Parish had 31,538 voters May 31, which was lower than the April 30 registration of 31,567.

Democrats made up the great majority of Louisiana voters, totalling 1,025,264 May 31.

Here is a breakdown on voter registration in northeast Louisiana besides Ouachita:

Caldwell, 4,158, compared to 4,168 April 30.

Catahoula, 4,322, compared to 4,321 April 30.

Concordia, 6,115, compared to 6,113 April 30.

Parish Solons Pleased Their Bills Are Signed

Two Ouachita Parish legislators, Rep. George Wood and Rep. Lawrence Gibbs, both of Monroe, Friday said they are pleased Gov. John J. McKeithen signed bills they sponsored in the recent fiscal session.

Wood's bill signed by McKeithen places policemen in municipalities from 7,000 to 13,000 population under Civil Service.

"This was a bill that was needed and I'm glad Gov. McKeithen signed it," Wood said.

The governor also signed a bill co-sponsored by Gibbs giving tax assessors a 10 per cent pay increase.

"The increase was in line with salary raises for other public officials," Gibbs explained. "I'm pleased the governor signed the bill, along with another measure I introduced at the request of the Department of Public Welfare."

The welfare bill sponsored by Gibbs permits the department to destroy checks already cashed by recipients after the checks are audited and microfilmed.

"The welfare department needs space, and this will permit them to make room for more space," Gibbs explained.

Girl Scout Camp Bus Schedule Set

The bus schedule for the day camp of the Silver Water Girl Scout Council was announced Friday by Mrs. Norman Huckabee, camp chairman. The schedule begins Monday and will continue through Friday, July 9, final day of the camp.

The buses will run daily, Monday through Friday of each week.

All buses will begin picking up campers shortly after 7 a.m. These youngsters should be at the stops listed below, allowing 15 to 20 minutes between each stop.

West Monroe and northside Monroe campers will have the following schedule: In West Monroe the stops will be at the Lenwil and Mitchell schools, Glenwood Hospital, Highland, West Monroe Junior High and Kirol Schools. In Monroe the bus will go north on N. 5th street to the Georgia Tucker school, then to Forsythe Avenue and the Lexington Elementary School, intersection of Forsythe and Oliver Road; intersection of Forsythe Avenue and Loop Road; and Forsythe and Sterling Roads, then on to camp.

The bus for the southside and College Area campers will stop first at the Clara Hall School, then go out the Milhaven Road, through the Selman Field to Lakeshore school, back westward to DeSiard, turning on Cole Avenue to Webster and on to the Sterling Road.

The buses will meet at Forsythe and Sterling Road intersection. The campers in the Town and Country Subdivision will be picked up at Haynes Grocery.

The day camp will close at 3 p.m. each day, with the campers returning home around 3:45 to shortly after 4 p.m., depending on the location of the stops.

Services Slated For Area Man Killed Thursday

WINNSBORO (Special) — Funeral for Billy Ray Brown, 26, of Wisner, will be held at 2 p.m. today at South Central Baptist Church near Wisner with the Revs. Enon Boyette and Harold Dunn officiating.

Mr. Brown died late Thursday night in an automobile accident when he lost control of his car on a curve about a mile south of Chase on La. Hwy. 15.

The car crashed into a concrete post at a gas meter in front of District 58 Highway Headquarters.

Franklin Parish Coroner Dr. A. J. Reynolds said Mr. Brown was pinned under a wheel of his vehicle and died immediately.

Burial will be in South Central Baptist Church cemetery near Wisner by First National Funeral Home of Winnsboro.

The body will remain at the residence of the victim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Brown, until time for services.

Other survivors include his widow, Mrs. Leola Hendry Brown of Wisner; one son, Kevin Ray Brown of Wisner; two brothers, Rev. James E. Brown Jr. of Loop, Tex., and Gary Brown of Angola; and one sister, Mrs. Peggy Ferrington of Wisner.

Loaded Sampan Explodes While Being Searched

SINGAPORE, Saturday (AP) — An Indonesian armed sampan loaded with explosives and saboteurs blew up in Singapore harbor Friday night while being searched by a British Navy boarding party, a Royal Navy spokesman announced today.

He said one British sailor was killed and seven were wounded on the craft after it was intercepted on a sneak run into the harbor.

The Indonesian penetration was the fifth in 24 hours. Only 20 hours before, Malaysian naval patrols reported repulsing the largest Indonesian attack yet on Singapore.

The spokesman said a Royal Navy warship intercepted the sampan as it was trying to sneak into Singapore Harbor.

"They were searching the sampan when explosives on board it went off," he said. "One Britisher was killed and seven wounded. Another was blown into the water, but was picked up later uninjured."

The spokesman said the body of one Indonesian was recovered, but declined to say how many Indonesians were aboard the sampan.

Earlier Friday four armed bands of Indonesian saboteurs — some believed drugged, the spokesman said — tried to invade and blow up strategic installations. Seven were killed, nine captured and 10 escaped back to Indonesia.

A Malaysian military spokesman said the Indonesians tried to infiltrate in four motor-driven sampans loaded with explosives but were intercepted by Malaysian patrol boats which sank three of the sampans.

The spokesman said some of the captured men, dressed in civilian clothes, appeared to be drugged and were carrying narcotics in bags around their necks.

SAIGON — At least 29 persons, including five or six Americans, were killed in the terrorist bombing of a floating restaurant on the Saigon River. Radio Hanoi announced the Viet Cong killed a captive American, Sgt. Harold George Bennett, 25, of Perryville, Ark., in retaliation for South Vietnamese execution of terrorists. Three more American combat deaths raised U.S. toll through the war to 427.

WASHINGTON — The U.S. government condemned the Viet Cong execution of Sgt. Bennett as wanton murder. Officials said privately they favor a review of the South Viet Nam policy against Red Terrorists.

MOSCOW — The Soviet news agency Tass said U.S. jets flew over Hanoi and four were shot down. American officials denied that any planes were lost, but declined comment when asked if U.S. aircraft had flown over the North Viet Nam capital.

LONDON — Britain continued to press for peace talks on Viet Nam, but Red China refused to meet with a British Commonwealth delegation.

Hollywood Elite Mourn Selznick

GLENDAL, Calif. (UPI) — More than 100 of Hollywood's elite — among them actors, directors and producers — paid farewell to "Gone With the Wind" Producer David O. Selznick, eulogized as a "great" film maker.

The eulogy by Joseph Cotten was followed by a tribute from Cary Grant and a reading of Rudyard Kipling's "If" by Katherine Hepburn.

The services were conducted by Rabbi Max Nussbaum of Temple Israel in Hollywood of which Selznick was a member. Entombment followed in the family vault at Forest Lawn.

Optimists Present City Check For Zoo

Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard accepted in behalf of the City of Monroe a $1157.46 check Friday from the Monroe Optimist Club for continued development of the city zoo.

Sheldon Ray, Zoo Day chairman, presented the check to Howard at the weekly Optimist luncheon.

"On behalf of the City of Monroe, I wish to acknowledge our appreciation to the Optimist Club for its splendid support of the city zoo," Howard said. "We appreciate your efforts and urge you to continue your excellent participation in the community's affairs."

Ray explained the money was raised by the Optimist Club at the recent Zoo Day, fourth sponsored by the club. Optimist contributions to the zoo, including the construction of a monkey island, now amount to about $8,000.

Presentation of the check came on the eve of the club's annual installation banquet to be held Saturday at 7 p.m. at the Rendezvous. Outgoing president Gordon Surguine will be succeeded by John Lacy.

The Opt-Mrs. Club will hold its installation in conjunction with the Optimists.

Highlight of tonight's program will be the presentation of the "Optimist of the Year"

Viet Cong's Reprisal Killing Termed As Wanton Murder

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. authorities Friday termed wanton, cold-blooded murder the execution of a U.S. Army sergeant by Viet Cong guerrillas.

The execution, Hanoi radio announced earlier in the day, was in reprisal for the execution of captured Viet Cong guerrillas convicted of terrorist activities in South Viet Nam. Radio Hanoi warned that other Americans "must pay for their blood debts" if more Viet Cong prisoners are executed.

The sergeant, Harold George Bennett, 25, Perryville, Ark., was captured Dec. 29 during the bloody fighting at Binh Gia.

"This is obviously a wanton act of murder if this is confirmed," the U.S. Embassy in Saigon said after hearing the report of Bennett's execution.

U.S. officials in Washington described Bennett's death as cold-blooded murder and a terrorist maneuver to put pressure on the United States to equate the cases of Americans captured in battle with the acts of Viet Cong terrorists.

They theorized that the Communists believe they can squeeze the South Vietnamese government to relent on executions if reprisals are directed against Americans. Other speculation had it that Hanoi sought to foster American public criticism of Washington's Viet Nam policy.

Bennett's execution was announced at a news conference Thursday by the "commander of the South Viet Nam Liberation Armed Forces in a liberated area." The North Viet Nam radio broadcast said.

"The fate of the U.S. prisoners of war, who are in the hands of the Liberation Armed Forces (Viet Cong) or will be captured by them, is decided by the U.S. aggressors themselves," Hanoi radio quoted a Viet Cong spokesman as saying.

of the execution. In Perryville, Bennett's mother, Pauline Bennett, cried after learning of her son's fate. "It's the most horrible thing in the world," she said. "I sure do not believe we should be involved."

The Hanoi radio said the sergeant's death was a retaliation for executions by the South Vietnamese government of Viet Cong "patriots" Nguyen Van Troi, Le Dau, Tran Van Dang and others.

It added that "all the traitors," such as (chief of state) Nguyen Van Thieu, (premier) Nguyen Cao Ky, and Nguyen Khanh Thi, who has massacred Vietnamese patriots on orders from the U.S. aggressors will also have to pay their blood debts."

Bennett, a radio operator with the American advisory team attached to the 33rd Vietnamese Ranger Battalion, was one of two Americans captured by the Viet Cong last December.

U.S. government sources said the Viet Cong and the Hanoi regime are known to be holding about a score of Americans at present. This includes 14 American servicemen, one U.S. aid official and five nongovernment civilians.

Hundreds of terrorists have been put to death in recent years by the Saigon government. However, only the three named by Hanoi and Le Van Khuyen were officially condemned to death and publicly executed.

McKeithen Will Speak At Area Banquet Meeting

TALLULAH (Special) — Gov. John J. McKeithen will be the featured speaker at the 18th annual banquet of the Madison Parish Chamber of Commerce to be held here July 6 at 7:30 p.m.

Charles Porter and Jack Folk are co-chairmen of the event which will be held at the Tallulah Country Club.

Edgar H. Lancaster Jr., will serve as master of ceremonies and Sen. Charles M. Brown will introduce the governor. Robert N. Graves, immediate past president, will present the gavel to the new president, John T. Seale.

Other officers are Charles M. Brown, vice president and M. W. Washburn, treasurer.

Members of the board of directors are Mrs. Margaret Lambberth, Dr. T. A. Brulte, J. T. Seale, R. N. Graves, E. A. Jennings Jr., D. D. Wood and W. P. Sevier, mayor of Tallulah. The advisory board, appointed by the board of directors and serving one year, are Russell Petersen and Charles Porter and Clay Crawford.

Italy Takes Note Of The Beatles

Rights Of Churches

Recently, there has been considerable questioning over whether a church denomination which has a national governing body can force churches within its organization to take action which is contrary to their beliefs. This pops up not only in the questions of integration and politics but in the matter of ideology itself.

It was recently established, through statements issued by the department of justice, that nothing in the integration act of 1964 nor in any decision made by the United States Supreme Court either demands or rejects integration by the churches. There is a common belief that each church, no matter what its denomination, has the right to make its own decision on many matters. In many, if not most, of the states of the union, the laws hold that the churches belong to the members rather than to the denominations.

Encyclopedia Britannica, formerly regarded as chiefly a British publication but now published in the United States, summing up the final reunion of the Northern and Southern branches of the Methodist church, said in part:

"In the 1930s a new plan of union, comprising two Episcopal Methodisms and the Methodist Protestants, received the necessary support in all three churches concerned. At a uniting conference held in Kansas City, Mo., in May 1939, the Methodist Church was formed, involving a larger number of Protestants than had ever come together before in a reunion body.

Unlike Baptist churches, which are autonomous, or self-governed, Methodist churches, in their larger subdivisions, are headed by bishops and, in smaller ones, by district superintendents. These churches do not select their own pastors and do not make their own rules. Churches of various denominations fall within one or the other of these two classifications — self-governing and local-governing or divisional-governing and national-governing.

Now that it has been established that the federal government of the United States has adopted a hands-off position regarding the churches, it has become clear that the self-governing and local-governing churches are less concerned than the nationally-governed churches about the probability of being forced to change their habits and customs and, apparently, even their beliefs.

Sunday school and other literature of the Methodist church generally represents the beliefs of the Northern, rather than the Southern churches, since the Northern churches predominate in membership.

For some years after the union of the three branches of Methodism in 1939, it appeared that the schism between the Southern and Northern branches had been largely closed. In more recent years, since the government drive toward forced integration began, this schism has been widened again, not only on the matter of integration but in such matters as socialism, liberalism, ideology and even theology.

This schism has been a source of embarrassment to many church workers in the South, particularly in the Sunday schools. Many theories are advocated in the literature of the Methodist church to which Southern Church leaders cannot subscribe.

The same is true in a good many other churches in which governing is done on a district or national basis, rather than on a local basis.

At the time of the union of the Methodist churches, a good many opposed it. Perhaps even more have since regretted that it took place, in view of the wide differences of opinion in the South as opposed to the North. It is not likely that there will ever be another division of these churches, at least within the foreseeable future, but there may be more of a tendency on the part of the churches in the South to be self-governing insofar as possible. If courts hold that individual churches belong to the members and not to the denominations, it will be a simple matter. If federal courts should decide in favor of denominations, rather than the people who bought and paid for the churches, it might prompt a big change in the physical structure of the churches.

Is This Democracy?

An Associated Press news dispatch said that the estate of Marilyn Monroe, at the time of her death one of the nation's leading movie actresses, far from providing one million dollars in bequests for her friends, was reported to have been devoured by taxes. It was stated there would be no significant amount for any beneficiary, not even her mother.

Laws which provide that an individual who has earned millions through some extraordinary ability may be deprived of all his earnings through taxes are confiscatory to an unpardonable degree.

It is well known that some persons, such as actors, prize-fighters and oil field men, may earn huge sums in a few years while earning practically nothing in other years. An effort has been made in Congress to allow persons with big earnings in one year to carry them over to other years in which earnings are small. Apparently, this did Miss Monroe no good.

We hold that, actually, any law which takes more than 50 per cent of a person's earnings in taxes, no matter how high those earnings may be, is confiscatory and undemocratic.

Because we have such laws, Miss Monroe's ill mother will not have enough to live on from her daughter's huge earnings, even though the daughter made provision for her. Taxes of this kind seriously trample on the claim that the United States is a land of opportunity.

Cut In Excise Taxes

A good many citizens are eyeing the cut in excise taxes with just about the enthusiasm one might expect from a post. There are at least two major reasons for this. One is that other taxes, newly enacted or to be enacted, are expected to more than offset the cut in excise taxes. The other is that people don't know who will profit by the cut.

Large numbers of items, classed as luxuries, even though often not regarded as being in that category, have been subject to excise taxes. In addition, admission fees to sporting events, various kinds of entertainments and to theaters and play houses have also been subject to the tax.

This tax amounts to 10 per cent or more of the retail price of the item or of the ticket in question. This would seem to mean that as soon as the cut goes into effect, prices of the items and of the tickets will be cut 10 per cent. Before citizens in general rejoice much over the cuts, they will want to see whether prices on such items come down 10 per cent, or more and how long they will stay at that level.

Snowy owls feed principally on lemmings, small arctic rodents whose population fluctuates from tremendous numbers to relatively few.

Longhorn cattle were named because of their long horns. They are valuable Western beefproducing steers.

BASCOM TIMMONS

1970 Census May Be Taken By Mail

WILL YOU COUNT yourself by mail in the 1970 census instead of answering questions asked by a door-to-door enumerator?

It could be. In 1961 the small city of Fort Smith, Arkansas, wanted a special population census. The Department of Commerce in Washington, quoted a price for taking it by mail. It was accepted and was so satisfactory that it has been tried since in Skokie, Illinois; Huntington, New York; Louisville, Kentucky, and Cleveland, Ohio. No tests have been made in rural areas.

Whether as a result of these experimental mail censuses, the Census Bureau will recommend adoption of the system in the future, has not been decided. But with the expense of doing the job by enumerators and the difficulty of finding competent enumerators it is a possibility.

THE TAKING OF a census every ten years is required by Article I of the Constitution of the United States. Its purpose is to apportion Representatives in Congress among the States according to population.

As time has gone on so many uses have been made of census figures that most people do not know that the actual reason for counting the population in every year ending in a 0 is for the purpose of determining the number of members any State shall have in the House of Representatives.

Of the two big metropolitan postal counts that in Louisville in 1964 was the more successful. It had an 88 per cent return. In the Cleveland test this year there was only 76 per cent return.

There was a reason for this. Cleveland has large slum areas, in which many of the adults are poorly educated. There are many nationalities where there is an unfamiliarity with United States forms of questionnaires. Some of the 76 per cent who did return the questionnaire delivered to them by postmen didn't do a very good job of supplying all the answers requested.

ALTHOUGH THE Census Bureau has been pleased by the rate of returns in the experiments Congress seems far from convinced that the mail census taking on a national basis would result in a good job. Some members of Congress say they expect the next census to be taken in 1970 by approximately the same methods the first one was taken in 1790.

An element in Congressional opposition is that census supervisors and enumerators are Congressional patronage. The supervisors would have to be appointed at any rate. The enumerators are not paid very much and are hard to get. The one recent census year where there was of an oversupply of applicants for the enumerator jobs was in 1930 when the country was in a depression and unemployment was heavy.

The 1960 census cost a total of around $130,000,000 and if taken in the same method in 1970 would undoubtedly be much more expensive. So a combination mail and personal visit method probably will be worked out. Those who did not fill out and return the questionnaire sent by mail, would get a visit from an enumerator. Also it would have to recognize that there are certain localities where a postal census just would not work.

SOME MEMBERS of Congress are in favor of taking a census every five years. To the one now required by the Constitution for Congressional apportionment, they would add a mid-decade head count in years ending in 5, which would get the same sort of population data. But the extra census would not be used in re-apportioning Congress or remapping Congressional Districts.

Some business concerns and municipalities are plugging hard for a complete census every five years. They contend that the 1960 census, for instance, is now fast becoming obsolete, and that the shuffling of population in the 1970s will be so rapid that 1970 count will quickly become out of date.

A Congressional pusher for the every-five-year plan is Representative Harley O. Staggers of West Virginia. And Representative William H. Ayres, Republican, Ohio, says: "Eliminating the inequities in the recently enacted school bill would easily justify the cost of a new census."

The pushers for the every-five-year census plan will have to convince a majority of members of Congress and the Executive Department that it is worth the cost. There is also the contention that money for a complete population count can only be appropriated for the once-every-ten years method prescribed by the Constitution.

So far the Budget Bureau is against a population census every five years, saying it simply is not worth what it would cost.

Dodd Viet Nam's Voice Of Warning

SEN. THOMAS DODD is becoming for Vietnam what Sen. Kenneth Keating was for Cuba: a clear voice of warning.

It was Keating who persistently warned of the Cuban missile build-up in the days when the administration had its sights elsewhere and significant portions of the press were still convinced that Fidel Castro was just an agrarian reformer.

Dodd is warning that the news about Vietnam is distorted and that the growing resistance to strong U. S. action in Vietnam is being fed by this distortion. Should we fatally compromise ourselves in Vietnam, the cause well might be a new paper curtain to fall over Southeast Asia.

Recent visitors to Vietnam have recalled to me these striking demonstrations of just what Dodd is talking about.

AN INCREASING number of stories are being filed by American newspapermen on the scene telling of "atrocities" committed against the Communists by anti-Communists! Admittedly in a war rough treatment is not confined to our enemies. But honest reporting would present a balance. The Communists still maintain a virtual monopoly on the use of terror in Vietnam. Why should a few isolated instances of prisoners being roughed up by our side be permitted to obscure that fact?

More than 35,000 civilians have been murdered or kidnapped by the Viet Cong. Isn't that news? But when U. S. officials pass along word of such Viet Cong atrocities to the resident press corps in Saigon, they are most often greeted with a bored chorus of "so what?"

The U. S. Information Agency keeps a helicopter available for U. S. newsmen who might want to check some of these stories. It has few takers.

Klan Tax Returns Checked Earnings Of Some Officials Eyed

THE TAX RETURNS of Ku Klux Klan officials in four Southern states are under close scrutiny by the Internal Revenue Service.

This unannounced development is a direct outgrowth of the sweeping investigation of the Klan the House Committee on Un-American Activities has been quietly conducting for several months — in preparation for holding public hearings, now slated for around the middle of July.

Under authority granted by President Johnson, committee agents compared Klan officials' tax returns with information from other sources. The resulting disclosures, turned over to the Revenue Service, led to its launching a probe of its own.

Illustrative of the nature of the committee's evidence is the following:

ONE KLAN OFFICIAL made a statement to the Veterans Administration that he had no income other than a World War II pension. The House investigators obtained records revealing this klansman was doing a thriving business selling Klan attire and paraphernalia.

Other significant committee findings due to be aired at the public hearings are:

A Louisiana klansman, at the instigation of officials of the organization, became a licensed gun dealer for the purpose of providing klansmen with weapons at wholesale prices. Records show he purchased some 600 rifles, shotguns and pistols, virtually all sold to klansmen in four Southern states. Committee agents are on the trail of other reputed instances of klansmen becoming licensed gun dealers for this purpose.

A number of Negro shootings in the past two years have been directly linked to klansmen. However, while all of these cases of terror tactics by individual Klan elements have been carefully documented, the House investigators have uncovered no ties between them and Klan officials. In no instance was the deed perpetrated at the behest of a Klan officer.

Most Klan officials are school drop-outs. They average less than a fifth grade education.

NEGRO "KLUXERS" — Representative Edwin Willis, D-La., chairman, is discussing with other committeemen widening the investigation to include the "Deacons for Defense and Justice."

This is a Negro organization with the avowed purpose of safeguarding members of that race and civil rights workers and demonstrators.

Launched last summer in northern Louisiana, the DDJ reportedly now has some 40 chapters in that state, Mississippi and Alabama. Estimated membership is around 10,000, approximately half that of the Klan. Ernest Thomas, Jonesboro, La., is chief organizer.

The Deacons are armed with rifles and pistols. Since a group of them fired at anti-civil rights partisans in Louisiana earlier this year, the organization has been under surveillance by the FBI.

One significant FBI discovery is an apparent growing close relationship between the Deacons and the Congress for Racial Equality (CORE). In areas where CORE is particularly active, notably in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama, Deacon units spring up and seem to thrive.

By United Press International

Today is Saturday, June 26, the 177th day of 1965 with 188 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning star is Saturn. The evening stars are Venus and Mars.

American novelist Pearl Buck was born on this day in 1892.

On this day in history:

In 1900, Dr. Walter Reed and three other U.S. Army doctors began their campaign to wipe out yellow fever.

In 1917, the first troops of the American Expeditionary Forces reached France.

In 1944, France's third greatest port, Cherbourg, was liberated from Nazi control by the Allies.

CASTRO'S CRYPTIC failure to explain promptly henchman Ernesto ("Che") Guevara's "disappearance" grows even more tantalizing with the ouster of President Ahmed Ben Bella in Algeria.

The Red world seldom operates on pure coincidence. Each man has been his country's strongest link with Red China. And the intimate link between Guevara and Ben Bella comprised the main link in the Cuban-Algerian axis.

Western European diplomats stationed in Havana call Guevara a Pekingite from the beginning, increasingly distrusted by the Kremlin. They credit Guevara with opening the door to the Red Chinese.

Apparently Castro did not oppose the Chinese entrance, which allowed him to play one "helper" against the other in typical style, but these observers attribute to Guevara Peking's ascendancy to the point where Peking could rival Moscow in this Red outpost.

Ben Bella, in turn, subordinated the Kremlin very early and fattened in the lap of Mao Tse-tung.

YOU COULD HARDLY find a more revealing case history to sharpen our understanding of long-range Red planning.

Official Communist relations with Ben Bella and other Algerian rebels preparing to fight the French began in Bern, Switzerland.

In the summer of 1954 Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser supplied 3,500 pounds sterling through the Egyptian consulate in Benghazi to a rebel emissary named Ben Boulaid. Boulaid met secretly with Red representatives in the Swiss capital to deliver this first token payment for arms from Red China, the U.S.S.R., Czechoslovakia and East Germany.

Switzerland has no relations with East Germany so a German Communist, Winifried Muller, alias Si Mustapha ben Ali, alias Ahem ben Ali, was smuggled to the meeting — but Red China was in on the ground floor through their embassy at 10 Klacheggweg, Bern.

For three long years Mao went slow, feeling his way to see if he was backing a winner. Then, as the revolt prospered, both Mao and the Kremlin stepped up their support and on November 19, 1957, Mao proclaimed a "day of solidarity" with the rebels in a special message to Ben Bella.

MAO WAITED FOR further rebel gains. By December, 1958, he put Red China's backing on a long-term basis. With additional rebel successes Mao again lifted the ante.

On March 23, 1959, he expanded his offering (in Peking) by way of negotiator Omar Ousseidik and eight other key figures in Ben Bellas group. Using intermediaries to hide the source from the Swiss government and the banks alike, Ousseidik opened accounts totalling a fresh $20 million from Red China.

By October, 1960, some 120 rebel leaders had completed military training in staff colleges in Peking and various Iron Curtain countries. They brought back top-level Chinese military textbooks printed in Arabic.

Meanwhile, Red China's transfer of funds was increasing steadily, still hidden. Intermediaries deposited around $2 million in Basel, Zurich and Geneva about every 10 days.

By now Mao's Federation of Chinese Students had infiltrated the Algerian Moslems' Students Union through its General Secretary, Mahmoud Kemisti and Ben Bella.

BEN BELLA'S ARMED forces, Sino-Soviet equipped, had mostly sat out the revolution—safe in Tunisia. Then after the French signed the independence pact with the rebels at Evian, Ben Bella moved in and knocked out Algerian Provisional Premier Youssef Ben Khedda.

Ben Bella was now home and dry, as the British would say. He had arrived as the Mediterranean Castro.

In nearly his first official act Ben Bella outraged American opinion by flying directly from President Kennedy's White House reception to Havana where he embraced Castro in a ringing speech condemning our country.

"Che" Guevara returned to Algiers with him and every year thereafter Guevara has been Ben Bella's absolute guest of honor, exclusively, at each July anniversary celebration of Algeria's independence.

In fact, Sen. Mike Mansfield, officially representing the United States among 60 other countries, once left a blistering letter behind telling Ben Bella in good Montana language that he was insulted to have been used as a patsy for Ben Bella's glorification of Guevara.

Is there some eel under the rock in the nearly simultaneous sidetracking of Guevara and Ben Bella? I wonder. And Western European diplomats stationed in Havana, wonder, too.

Joiner Urges Greater Usage Of Parish Dump

Curtis Joiner, ward three Ouachita Parish police juror, Friday reminded residents in wards three and four of the new Prairie Road garbage dump and urged more extensive use.

"The dump is just not being used as fully as it should be," he said. "The people must not know about it."

Parish Engineer Herbert I. Collier announced completion of the sanitary land fill type facility about two months ago. Commercial haulers, as well as individuals, in the two wards were urged to use it.

C. W. Whetstone, chairman of the police jury's sanitation committee, also has called attention to the facility and recommended fuller use. Whetstone also has noted hopes for acquiring another dump in ward three and is conducting a continuing investigation of possible areas.

The newest dump is on Prairie Road, just beyond its intersection with Kincaid Road.

Local Hospital Is Given Honors By Association

The St. Francis Hospital of Monroe was honored recently at the Catholic Hospital Association of the United States and Canada convention in St. Louis, Mo., as the only Catholic hospital in the Deep South as a charter member.

Receiving the plaque in behalf of the hospital was Mother Superior Marie Finbarr, administrator of the St. Francis Hospital.

The St. Francis Hospital was organized in 1913 with the Sisters of the Order of St. Francis in charge.

Two years later, 1915, the Catholic Hospital Association was organized and its convention held in Milwaukee. Among the registrants were 103 sisters, 94 lay persons and seven priests. Two sisters from the Order of St. Francis were among those in attendance. They were the only ones from a hospital in the Deep South.

The Catholic Hospital Association of the United States and Canada convention this year was held in St. Louis, with the theme honoring the Golden Jubilee. Representatives of the charter members were in attendance.

In the 50 years of existence, 500,000 patients have been received at St. Francis Hospital.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. Van Dellen

CARCINOGENS IN BROILED MEATS

The attack on cancer viruses from early detection to the identification of causative agents (carcinogens). Many substances are capable of inciting a malignancy in laboratory animals and man. The aim is to remove these from our environment without making us too unhappy.

The relationship between lung tumors and cigaret smoking is well known. Genital cancer among English chimney sweeps was described more than 200 years ago by Percivall Pott. Industrial exposure to B-naphthylamine is responsible for certain bladder tumors and inhaling gasworks effluents leads to similar lesions as well as lung cancer. Trauma is blamed for changing some birthmarks into serious melanomas.

The cause of common malignancies are not known. Carcinogens such as viruses, polycyclic hydrocarbons, and radiation probably induce mutation in the cell and changes it from an innocent to a malignant body. There remains a large gap in our knowledge as to the seriousness to man of the hundreds of chemicals that cause tumors in mice. Numerous cancer producers have been administered to these laboratory animals in unrealistic doses over long periods of time. Color and food additives have been attacked the most.

Recently charcoal-broiled meats were added to the list. A group of researchers from the Chicago medical school developed a method by which a known carcinogen, benzo (a) pyrene, can be detected in the range of parts per billion. Concentration of this hydrocarbon in bacon, smoked salmon, and smoked haddock was in the range of a few parts per billion or less. This is interesting because some authorities blame the higher incidence of gastric cancer in northern Russia and Iceland to smoked fish.

Concentration of benzo (a) pyrene in charcoal-broiled steaks and ribs varied from 5 to 10.5 parts per kilogram. Meanwhile, our government is concerned with food additives that have 1 part per billion where there is 100 to 1000 times more in a single charcoal-broiled steak. The same applies to tobacco smoke and air pollution. In other words, we must evaluate carcinogens in their true perspective before letting ourselves be legislated into a cold war against cancer.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request. TOMORROW: Ear Surgery.

The purpose of the debate camp is to give experience, information and guidance to students who expect to debate the national high school debate question, Dr. Minchew said. The subject is "Resolved, That the federal government should adopt a program of compulsory arbitration in labor-management relations in basic industry" for the 1965-66 school session.

This year's camp will be under the general supervision of Dr. Minchew. Other members of the staff will be Leane Cloud of Fair Park in Shreveport and several local persons including Linda Kavanaugh, Mrs. Marty Beasley, Mrs. Mary Goodwyn, Pat Briney, Carolyn Young, Jean McHenry, Lewis Bretz, Mrs. Paul Pennington and Mrs. Doris Yarbrough, the housemother.

The campers will attend the Louisiana Tech Concert Assn. presentation of the "Theatre Men" on July 8, one-act plays by the speech department July 14, and a musical, "Kiss Me Kate," July 15.

PRICKLY HEAT

J. R. writes: Why are some people more subject to prickly heat than others? My husband is bothered terribly.

REPLY

Prickly heat favors the fair skinned and the overweight. Send a stamped self-addressed envelope for leaflet on prickly heat.

BONE CANCER

Mrs. M. V. writes: Is multiple myeloma cancer of the bone?

REPLY

Yes. The tumor originates in the skeletal system. Some of the symptoms stem from bone destruction and others from a depression of blood formation in the marrow.

BLUSHING

A reader writes: What would cause a man of 30 to turn red when he is nervous and tense?

REPLY

The skin reaction to tension resembles blushing and is caused by dilatation of the skin capillaries.

GUM NONFATTENING

A reader writes: Is gum fattening, and can it make you hungrier?

REPLY

It contains a few calories but is not considered fattening. It does not increase or decrease appetite.

Police Charge 3 Negro Youths In Purse Theft

Monroe police Friday charged three teenage Negroes in the June 19 theft of a purse said to contain over $2,000.

Placed in the Ouachita Parish jail were Leon Carter Jr., 18, of 1110 Pine St., Monroe, and Johnny Rankin, 17, of 1201 Pine St., also Monroe.

The third youth implicated, a 14-year-old, was placed in the juvenile detention home.

The three are charged with taking a purse belonging to Gloria Kalil, 811 N. 4th St., Monroe, from her car while it was parked in the 1600 block of Stubbs Avenue on June 19. The Kalil woman said the purse contained two checks totaling $2,000, $180 in cash and a topaz and gold ring. Police have so far recovered the ring and the purse.

In other action, police booked James R. Henning, 21, Chatam, with aggravated assault and carrying a concealed weapon.

Booked for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages was Melvin Page, 20, of 713 S. 17th St., Monroe. Page was apprehended in the 1500 block of Texas Street late Thursday.

Booked with simple battery Friday was Wendell Oglesbee, 33, of 802 Florida St., Monroe. He was arrested at his address at 4 p.m.

Ticketed by Monroe police for negligent driving Friday following a minor accident was Louis M. Wilson, 44, of 109 Center Dr., West Monroe.

Charged with reckless driving by West Monroe police Friday were James Thornton, 23, of 402 Register St., West Monroe, and Lois L. Allen, 22, of 419 80th St., Monroe. Ticketed for speeding was Joseph A. Smith III, 19, of 2215 Redwood Dr., Monroe.

Also ticketed by Monroe officers for negligent driving following minor accidents were Peter Calston, 62, of 3400 Church St., Monroe, and S. J. Miller, 29, 110 Lynn St., West Monroe.

Meanwhile, Monroe police were investigating a burglary at 2202 DeSard St. reported by Mattie Bulliard. An accounting of the contents of the house disclosed that the burglar had netted a cantaloupe from the refrigerator for his efforts.

Ownership Of Boston Celts Is Officially Transferred

BOSTON, (AP) — Ownership of the Boston Celtics was formally transferred Friday to Ruppert Knickerbocker Brewing Co. of New York for $3 million and with a firm commitment that the eight-time champions of the National Basketball Association would stay in Boston.

"We hope to win eight more championships in Boston," said Jack Waldron, president of Ruppert and new president of the Boston Celtics Corp.

"Certainly the Celtics will stay in Boston," he said. "This is a firm commitment from the Ruppert Brewery."

Waldron said Arnold (Red) Auerbach would continue as Celtics' coach, general manager and executive vice president, adding: "Absolutely no changes will be made in the team. Why tinker with a winning piece of machinery?"

Lou Pieri, Mrs. Walter Brown, widow of the former Celtics president, and Auerbach — who together owned all Celtics stock — signed the sale agreement. Waldron signed for the brewery.

Full ownership went to Ruppert. Pieri said the purchase price will be a very few dollars off $3 million. Waldron said the deal was "cash on the barrel head." The late Jacob Ruppert one of the founders of the brewery, was owner of the New York Yankees during the glory days of Babe Ruth.

The signing ceremony was an emotional moment for Mrs. Brown.

Appearing at times on the verge of tears, she said: "A little bit of my heart goes with the Celtics. I want the fans to know in this I had no choice. I'm sure they understand."

Walter Brown, one of the founders of the NBA, died last September. Soon afterward Mrs. Brown let it be known a "reasonable offer for the club" would be considered.

"I think Walter would be pleased," she said. "There is no longer a No. 1 fan. I was always No. 2. I will never lose interest."

Marvin Kratter, board chairman of Kratter Realty, owner of the brewing company, becomes the Celtics board chairman. Lou Decesare, vice president of Ruppert and director of marketing, becomes a vice president with Auerbach.

Auerbach was made a part owner of the Celtics early this year, primarily to insure his staying with the team during a change of ownership. He will be in the second year of a two-year contract next season.

Auerbach called the change in ownership "a wonderful thing," adding: "I'm sure the ball players feel as I do."

He said the Celtics' John Havlicek talked over the sale with him Friday and was happy about it. Auerbach was asked for the reaction of Bill Russell, Celtics center and NBA most valuable player.

"He's on his way to Liberia," Auerbach said. "And we haven't had a chance to talk."

Auerbach added, however, that Russell knew about the sale and was in favor of it.

Pieri was asked why he decided to sell a team as successful as the Celtics.

"You'd have to be as old as I feel to appreciate that," he said. "Ownership takes a tremendous amount of emotional strain—it's more than I can stand."

He said 12 organizations had negotiated for the Celtics but only about three were finally considered because only these would commit themselves to keeping the team in Boston.

Houston Ace Wins NCAA Golf Meet

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Marty Fleckman of Houston won the 68th annual National Collegiate Golf Tournament Friday with a seven-under-par 281 after surviving a shaky final 18 holes and a strong challenge by Jim Weichers of Santa Clara.

Fleckman sank a 12-foot birdie putt to win by one stroke. He had led all the way in the 68th annual tournament.

A par on the 18th hole would have left Fleckman and Weichers in a tie. Weichers birdied the last two holes for a 282.

Fleckman, a 21-year-old junior from Port Arthur, Tex., led by four strokes going into the final 18 holes, but he had three bogies coming into the last green. His card read 67-68-72-74—281.

The championship putt traveled slightly downhill and curved a few inches along the way before hitting the cup.

"I wanted to go for it," Fleckman said. "I didn't want to be short."

Other top finishers were Arne Dokka of California State at Los Angeles and Sherman Finger of Southern California, tied at 286; Randy Petri of Houston and Alex Antonio of Ohio State, 287; and Tim Collins of Virginia Tech and Bob Dixon of Oklahoma State, 288.

The 72-hole tournament was played over the par 72 Holston Hills Country Club Course. The weather was sunny and warm, except for rain on Thursday.

"The course was tougher than I thought it was," said Fleckman who moved in front with a first round five-under par 67.

The University of Houston won the team championship, its eighth in 10 years under Coach Dave Williams. Next were California State at Los Angeles, Southern California and two teams tied for fourth—Florida and Purdue.

Fleckman's opening rounds of 67 and 68 established an NCAA medalist record of 135. The previous mark was 136, held by Don Albert of Purdue, 154; Johnny Pott, LSU, 1955; and Bob Pratt and Jack Cupit, both of Houston in 1959.

Fleckman ran into trouble on his last 18 holes when he began to tire.

"I guess I had better get into shape for the next one," he said.

The husky, dark-haired youth scrambled on No. 17 for a par five. He hit the rough twice, missed the green and then sank a three-foot putt. On No. 18, his drive was down the middle, but he pulled his second shot into the left bunker and used a wedge to blast 75 yards onto the green.

Fleckman needed the 12-foot putt to win, and he sank it.

Boston Sox Stagger To Win Over Solons

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox exploded for seven runs in the fifth inning—their largest one-inning output of the season—and staggered on to an 8-6 victory over the Washington Friday night.

Boston sent 12 men to the plate in the fifth with catch Bob Tilton scoring twice after drawing a pair of walks.

The key hits in the rally were a two-run single by Felix Mantilla, boosting his American League-leading runs batted in total to 54, and a two-run double by shortstop Rico Petrocelli, his second hit of the inning.

Boston's sore-armed pitcher, Dennis Bennett, lost his effectiveness during the long rally and was tagged for two-run homers by Woody Held and Ken McMullen in the next two innings and needed relief help from Bob Duliba and Dick Radatz.

Pinch hitter Willie Kirkland also hit a two-run homer for Washington in the eighth.

Washington starter Buster Narum gave up six runs on five hits, including a solo home run by Carl Yastrzemski in the fourth, before he was lifted midway through the fifth inning uprising.

Bases-Loaded Hit Gives Twins Game

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Joe Nosssek's bases-loaded infield single with two out in the ninth inning scored Don Mincher and gave the Minnesota Twins a 4-3 victory over Detroit Friday night.

The victory kept the first-place Twins one-half game ahead of Chicago and Cleveland in the American League.

Nosssek's single capped a two-run rally that started after Detroit starter Dave Wickersham retired the first two batters.

Wickersham, who had held Minnesota to three hits, walked Harmon Killebrew and Mincher on 3-2 counts.

Fred Gladding then replaced Wickersham, and Bernie Allen grounded a single up the middle, scoring pinch runner Jim Grant with the tying run. With runners at second and third, Gladding then purposely walked Rich Rollins.

Nosssek batted for Johnny Klippstein and hit a little roller to the first base side of the mound, just beating it out for a single.

Don Demeter drove in two of the Tigers' runs, breaking a 1-1 tie with a homer in the fifth and giving Detroit a 3-1 lead with a single in the sixth. Al Kaline homered for the Tigers.

Don Mincher knocked in two for the Twins, with a fourth-inning single and a homer in the seventh.

Manager Gives Impression Of Working On Stealing 1st

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Jacksonville Suns manager Grover Resinger admits no way has ever been found to steal first base, but he gives the impression he's working on it.

The Suns have been running wild in the International League this season, stealing bases, squeezing runs home, giving opposing pitchers the jitters and keeping the defense off balance.

"I feel a ball club has to move," explains the 50-year-old Resinger. "I don't believe the general public that comes to a ballpark buys safety-first baseball."

While offering no great threat to the League lead, the Suns have furnished plenty to talk about with their feats of daring. Fans are following the stolen base records of the team as avidly as those in other cities keep track of home runs.

By their 61st game this season, the Suns had stolen 75 bases despite the fact that the team as a whole is on the slow side.

"We have two who can really run," says Resinger. "That's (Bobby) Tolan and (Ted) Savage." He says Tolan "has been blessed with great speed" while Savage has know-how.

Resinger emphasizes that stealing is just a part of the running game.

"Hitting and running and taking an extra base — and the threat of taking another base — is what makes them (the opposition) commit errors," he says.

The Suns' manager believes stealing shouldn't be confined to times when a team is winning.

"A lot of fellows say once you get behind you can't steal any more," says Resinger. "But if you get behind in the first inning, why do you have to play dead and let them play cat and mouse with you? Everything is a gamble."

Resinger's ideas may sound strange to some, but then they come from a man who keeps a pet wolf in his house, drives 80 miles to bat a handball against a wall and once staged a "lie-in" in a parking lot.

The wolf is Cissy, actually a Missouri coyote that Resinger dug from a den 12 years ago and fed him with an eyedropper.

Cissy still lives on Resinger's farm in Eolia, Mo., where she scratches on the door to get in and out and behaves in general like a dog.

During the exhibition season this year when a policeman told Resinger he couldn't park in a lot near the stadium without a pass, the Suns' manager got out of his car and lay on the pavement. The policeman gave in.

Resinger never made the major leagues as a player, but was with a number of minor league clubs from 1934 to 1949, mostly as a third baseman.

Since 1961 he has been a manager with Winnipet of the Northern League, Billings, Mont., of the Pioneer League, and Tulsa of the Texas League.

Resinger took up handball 20 years ago just to get in shape for baseball, but before long he was commuting 80 miles to St. Louis to compete in tournaments and later went on to play in national events.

Pair Drives In Six As Cardinals Win

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Billy Williams and George Altman each drove in three runs, leading the Chicago Cubs to a 12-4 victory over St. Louis Friday night that dropped the reeling world champion Cardinals into eighth place in the National League.

The Cardinals, who had two players fined Thursday night for not being alert, committed four errors, had one runner thrown out on the bases and also helped the Cubs along with catcher Tim McCarver charged with three passed balls and pitcher Nelson Briles hitting a batter.

Williams drove in his trio with a first inning single and a two-run double in a five-run fourth. Altman also singled in a run in the first and drove in two more with another single in the seventh.

Doug Clemens, meanwhile, led the Cubs' 15-hit attack with four hits, including a homer, and scored four runs.

Bob Buhl got the victory that moved the Cubs into seventh place with Lindy McDaniel's relief help. Bob Purkey started for the Cardinals and was knocked out in the first inning.

Relief pitcher Ray Sadecki, infielders Dick Groat and Phil Gagliano and outfielder Mike Shannon were charged with the St. Louis errors.

Matson Applies

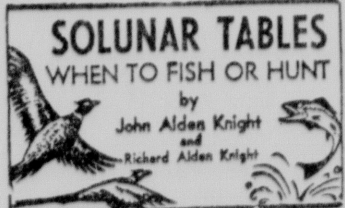

For Entry On

American Team

HOUSTON (AP) — Randy Matson, Texas A&M's world record shot putter, said Friday night he had applied to the AAU National Track and Field Committee for a place on the United States track team that meets Russia at Moscow July 31.

Matson, who skipped the NCAA and AAU meets because of a knee injury, was told by Col. Don Hull, Executive Director of the AAU, that he probably would get on the team if he had a doctor's certificate stating that he shouldn't compete in the AAU meet this week at San Diego and applied to the AAU under the injury clause. Matson has sent in the certificate.

Matson said his knee had responded to treatment and that he would begin intensive work next week to get into shape for the Russian meet. He must compete in a meet before the Russian meet to show he is in condition.

Marty Riessen Keeps Up Tactics In Wimbledon Play

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Marty Riessen, a 23-year-old Northwestern University graduate known primarily for his doubles ability, knocked out Wilhelm Bungert of Germany, No. 5 seed here, Friday and kept up Uncle Sam's giant killing tactics in the men's singles division of the Wimbledon Tennis Tournament.

Riessen served deep and this forced Bungert to return the ball high so that the American could volley powerfully for a 6-2, 7-5, 8-6 third round match.

Advancing along with Riessen were Allen Fox of Los Angeles, and Arthur Ashe, the elegant shotmaker from Richmond, Va. Already in the round of 16 were Dennis Ralston of Los Angeles and Jim McManus of Berkeley, Calif.

Ashe, ranked No. 3 in the United States, used his big service to eliminate Bob Carmichael of Australia, 7-5, 6-3, 8-6, while Fox, who knocked out third seeded Jan-Erik Lundquist of Sweden on Thursday, downed Gene Scott of St. James, N.Y., 6-4, 7-5, 6-2.

In addition to the four men in the quarter-finals, the U.S. also has six women players among the final 32 in that division.

Julie Heldman of New York, Justina Bricka of St. Louis, and Tony Ann Fretz of Harrisburg, Pa., made the grade Friday. Earlier, Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., Nancy Richey of Dallas and Jane Albert of Pebble Beach, Calif., had advanced.

This was the first day that matches were played under almost normal circumstances even though the sky was overcast and a blustery wind played tricks with some shots.

But the day belonged to young Riessen, whose bride of six months was on the sidelines shouting advice.

The American took the first two sets and then appeared running into trouble in the third set as Bungert broke through for a 5-4 lead with his service to come.

That was the time when Riessen conquered nerves — and Bungert suffered from them.

Bungert double-faulted twice and Riessen leveled at 5-5.

"At that stage I had a feeling that the game was mine," Riessen said afterwards. And he was exactly right.

"I watched Bungert last year and I noticed that he stood about a yard or a yard and a half inside the baseline to receive service," Riessen said.

"So I decided to serve deep to make him hit the ball up for my volleys. That's the way it worked out."

Fox, the other giant killer, seemed in trouble in the second set as Scott raced ahead 3-0. But Fox, volleying well and controlling his service better in the swirling wind, leveled at 5-5 and took the set. Then he swept through without the slightest trouble in the third set.

Three of the men's seeds now have been knocked out — Lundquist, Bungert and Tony Roche of Australia. Roy Emerson, the defending champion from Australia and top seed, is in the last 16 and looking every inch a champion.

Miss Heldman defeated Ann Owen of Britain, 6-1, 6-1; Miss Bricka downed Francesca Gordigiani of Italy, 7-5, 6-2; and Miss Fretz eliminated Mrs. Jitka Volavkova of Czechoslovakia, 6-4, 6-4. All were second round matches.

Six Australians were left in the last 16 compared with five Americans, and the championship began to look like old times with a U.S.-Australian tussle looming.

The round of 16 stacks up like this:

Ralston plays Thomas Klich of Brazil; Emerson Klich plays Cliff Drysdale of Australia; McManus plays Keith Diepraam of South Africa; Riessen plays Bob Howe of Australia; Newcombe of Australia plays Cliff Drysdale of Australia; Ashe plays Rafael Osuna of Mexico, and Bob Howe and Fred Stolle meet in another all-Australian match.

Horlen Throws Chisox To Victory Over Birds

CHICAGO (AP) — Joe Horlen, scattered eight hits and aided by four doubleplays, pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 6-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Friday night.

The White Sox ripped into starter Wally Bunker for four runs in the first inning, added another in the second when Don Buford stole home and wrapped up the scoring in the eighth on Bill Skowron's homer.

Bunker, a 19-game winner in his rookie season last year, was plagued by wildness. He walked two of the first four men he faced and the White Sox came up with four runs as John Romano, Ron Hansen and Dave Nicholson all singled home runs. The fourth run scored on a throwing error by catcher Dick Brown.

Horlen opened the second with a single and was forced by Buford. Buford stole second and continued to third on Brown's second throwing error before Bunker suffered his third loss against four triumphs.

Pete Ward, Chicago's slug-ging third baseman, left the game in the first inning when he tripped over first base and suffered a neck injury.

ATTENDING A LUNCHEON in her honor, given by Mrs. Gilbert Faulk, is Mrs. David Ezernack, pictured above. Mrs. Ezernack is the former Miss Gretchen Haas of this city, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Haas Jr.

Mrs. David Ezernack Is Complimented At Party

The home of Mrs. Gilbert Faulk on Emerson Ave. was the setting for a luncheon honoring Mrs. David Ezernack, the former Miss Gretchen Haas, Wednesday, June 23 at 12 noon. Mrs. Ezernack is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Haas Jr. and the granddaughter of Mrs. Morris Haas and Mrs. I. N. Brunson.

Magnolias filled the fireplace and were placed about the living room giving a bridal atmosphere to the luncheon honoring the recent bride. In the dining room, white stock and chrysanthemums were used in an antique silver bowl as the centerpiece.

Attending the party were Mrs. James A. Noe, Mrs. Morris Haas Jr., Mrs. Morris Haas, Mrs. Karl Buelow, mother of the recent groom; Miss Carolyn Accardo, Miss Sharyn McKeithen, Miss Debbie Marsalo, Miss Marsha Johnson, Miss Susan Ellington, Miss Patricia Truduack, Miss Dana Tucker and Miss Lyn Landry.

Eastern Star Officials Visit Here Saturday

Making an official visit to District 5, Order of Eastern Star of Louisiana in Monroe Saturday evening will be Worthy Grand Matron, Mrs. Ethel Robbins of Jennings, Worthy Grand Patron, Wesley E. Beadle of Lafayette and other grand chapter officers.

Purpose of the meeting to be held in the Masonic Temple in Monroe, starting at 7:30 p.m., is to observe the work performed by all chapters which comprise this district.

District 5 includes Louise L. McGuire Chapter No. 4, Dixie Chapter No. 179, both of Monroe;

Mrs. Brown Honored In Tullos

The First Baptist church of Tullos honored Mrs. Lessye Brown with a special program and tea on Sunday. Mrs. Brown has served almost 22 years as music director and superintendent of junior activities. The Rev. Coda Salter, pastor, opened the dedicatory service and presented Mrs. Brown with a Victorian rocker, as a token of love and esteem from the congregation.

Speakers for the occasion were the Rev. B. T. Milford, the Rev. F. W. Hart and the Rev. E. T. Carruth, all former pastors of the church.

The social room of the church was the setting for the tea. Mrs. Brown was attired in a pastel green lace over satin, enhanced by an orchid corsage presented to her by the choir. Their other gift to her was a silver cake plate inscribed with her name and date of service.

The table, overlaid with a cloth of white satin and net, was graced at one end with tall silver candelabra interspersed with tiny pink rose buds. The opposite end of the table held an arrangement of pink carnations and rose buds. Centering the table was the crystal punch service, flanked by silver compotes filled with mints and other dainties.

The guest book lay on a table, covered with white satin and net, with a silver vase holding a single rose bud.

Many out of town and local guests were present to honor Mrs. Brown on the day that was designed as "Lessye Brown Day."

NO FLAT IDEA

When the leader of Senior Girl Scouts Troop 859 had a flat tire recently she got an idea for a course in auto mechanics. Now all the members of her troop learn such things as the difference between a carburetor and a generator, how to care for the battery and automatic transmission positions and how to check fuel and oil gauges.

Annie D. Bennett Chapter No. 181, West Monroe; Golden Sheaf Chapter No. 75 of Eros; Sterlington Chapter No. 201 and Cadeville Chapter No. 208.

Presiding at the meeting will be Mrs. Sibyl Neill, District Deputy Grand Matron of District No. 5.

VISITING HIS FAMILY this past week was the Reverend Joseph Rivoire S. J., who is assistant principal of Jesuit High School in Dallas, Texas. His mother, Mrs. Alice Rivoire of Emerson Street and his brother, Vic Rivoire, of Eason Place, welcomed him to Monroe for his stay. The Reverend is on his way to Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wisconsin where he will attend summer school.

FORMER RESIDENT, Mrs. William Phillips, with her two children, Sharon and Jim, were recently in Monroe visiting her mother, Mrs. R. W. Welch. During their stay they attended an annual Welch family reunion. Mrs. Welch returned with the Phillips for a short visit at their home in Laporte, Indiana.

MRS. JACK B. BEASLEY and her son, Jack Bunn, with Mrs. E. T. Stark have recently returned from a three week vacation on the west coast. They visited San Diego and Los Angeles, California with a brief trip to Tijuana, Mexico. Disneyland, the missions at Capistrano and Marineland were special points of interests of the tour.

Country Club Scene For Bridal Luncheon Honoring Kay Thompson

Miss Kay Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dhu Thompson, and the bride-elect of Harvey Parnell Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. John William Perry of Perryville, was honored with a luncheon given by Mrs. James W. Moore of Monroe and her daughter, Mrs. John Gilbert Lauve of Alexandria, Tuesday, June 22, at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

A pink linen tablecloth and napkins with place cards designed with small pink rosebuds edged adorned the table. A theme of delicate pink was used in the flower arrangement of roses, gladioli and daisies accented by deep orchid colored peonies and greenery in a large silver container, which centered the dining table.

The honoree chose for the occasion a white linen dress of long torso design, appliqued at the neck with tips of belt and black lace designs. She was presented with a white corsage of roses and split carnations.

Enjoying the occasion with Miss Thompson and the hostesses were Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Perry, Mrs. Parnell Lessenberry of Little Rock, Arkansas, Mrs. James Grethe of New Orleans, Mrs. John Bishop Johnston III, Mrs. Carolyn Thompson, Miss Paula Perry, Miss Martha Perry, and Mrs. Dan Vanderhoven of Marshall, Texas.

Shirley Anding To Be Bride Of James Grisham

Forthcoming marriage of Miss Shirley Lorece Anding and James Thomas Grisham, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ray Anding, 101 Mauldin Drive, West Monroe. The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Grisham, Clayton St., West Monroe.

The wedding will take place July 3 at 1 p.m. in Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witness with Nick Panaski officiating.

Attending the bride will be Miss Martha Faust as maid of honor. Bobby Parnell will serve as best man and ushers will be Earnie Anding and Robert Grisham.

Both are graduates of West Monroe high school and following their marriage will be at home at 112½ Linderman St. in West Monroe where Mr. Grisham is employed.

Parties Begin For Rushees

To begin the activities of Lambda Sigma Chi's rush season was a surprise breakfast in the home of Miss Georgiana Link on Loop road from 5 to 6:30 a.m. on Monday. The theme the sorority has chosen for the rush season is "Once Upon A Time." The entrance to the home held a huge frame shaped like a book with the rhyme, "Wynken, Blynken and Nod," written on it. There were stars of many different colors decorating the trees on the lawn.

Favors presented to the rushees at this early morning party were lacy night masks.

Watermelon Party

On Thursday, Peggy Dawson had all the rushees and their fathers to a watermelon party at her home on Glenmar. Seen appropriately spaced around the lawn were immense cutouts of characters from the Brer Rabbit stories, as the theme for this social was "Brer Rabbit In The Watermelon Patch."

Semi-Formal Dance

Saturday, a "Cinderella" semi-formal dance on the Frances Roof was one of the highlights of the fun filled rush season. Decorations carried out the Cinderella theme with three columns used to connect the coach and horses so well known in this fairytale. On the first column was the coach, the second and third had the horse cutouts connected to the coach with reins. Life size replicas of Cinderella and the Prince, elegantly dressed, had been placed near the bandstand.

MISS SHIRLEY LORECE ANDING

Miss McGee Entertained At Conversational Hour

The home of Mrs. George C. Guier on Bon Air Drive was the setting for a conversational hour honoring bride-elect, Miss Diane McGee, daughter of Mrs. W. D. McGee Jr., Tuesday, June 22 at 4 p.m. Miss McGee is to wed James Lannis Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Roberts, of Alexandria, on June 26 in St. Paul's Methodist Church.

The Guier home was decorated throughout with magnolia blossoms and centered on the refreshment table was a cupid composite holding the traditional wedding flowers. Miss Carrie Dee Drew presided at the punch bowl. The honoree was wearing a summery two piece yellow ensemble featuring a pleated skirt. Her hostess presented her with a carnation and rose corsage.

Guests that came during the hours appointed were Miss Drew, Mrs. F. C. Drew, Mrs. Robert A. Faison, Miss Miriam Faison, Miss Jane Brimberry, Miss Carol Cole, Mrs. James Wroten, Miss Harriet Murray, Mrs. William C. Eisenhardt, Mrs. P. C. Mason, Mrs. Jack W. White, Miss Judy Cobb, Mrs. Guy A. MR. AND MRS. MARVIN LYN MORSE

Candlelight Vows Unite Louisiana Tech Students

Ruth Diane Richey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Richey, Oak Grove, became the bride of Marvin Lyn Morse, son of Mrs. K. L. Dement, Bastrop and the late Marvin Morse, Oak Grove, in a double ring ceremony, Sunday, June 13, at the New Zion Baptist Church with the Rev. T. B. Walls officiating.

The altar was decorated with baskets of white gladioli, blue hydrangeas, Queen Annes lace and branched candelabras holding white cathedral tapers. The couple exchanged vows in front of a greenery trimmed arch holding two wedding bells suspended from its center. Miss Betty Horton, organist accompanied Miss Carolyn Ainsworth, soloist.

Candle lighters were Carol Richey sister of the bride and Bonnie Dement, sister of the groom.

The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory silk peau de soie with bateau neckline, elbow sleeves and semi-bellied skirt with detachable train. The gown is embellished with re-embroidered Alencon lace with seed pearls and iridescent beading. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. The headdress was an heirloom lace mantilla imported from Portugal, and her bouquet were white stephanotis with an orchid in the center.

Miss Marilyn Bradley, maid of honor, wore a blue peau de soie with bateau neckline, elbow sleeves, and bell-shaped skirt. Her headdress was a blue peau de soie pillbox with an edging of net. Her bouquet were three long stemmed red roses. Miss Carol Buffalo, Sharon Chrisman and Donna Edwards, bridesmaids, wore gowns and headdresses identical to the maid of honor. Their bouquets were one long stemmed red happiness rose.

Tom Sawyer of Ruston, served as best man while the groomsmen and ushers were Michael Gammill, Larry Jackson and Wayne Grubbs.

Mrs. Richey, mother of the bride wore a beige linen dress with matching lace jacket and beige accessories. Mrs. Dement, mother of the groom, wore a white eyelet dress with blue accessories. Their corsages were red happiness roses.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the Home Economics Cottage, Oak Grove. The bride's table held an arrangement of white gladioli and Queen Annes lace. Miss Bonnie Alder and Miss Emily Hogan alternated at the crystal punch service, and helped serve the three tiered cake decorated with pink and blue roses topped with miniature bride and groom. Mrs. Tom Sawyer presided at the bride's book. Tea girls were Carol and Maria Sawyer and Bertha Rountree.

Both are graduates of Oak Grove high school and are now attending Louisiana Polytechnic Institute in Ruston, where they will be at home following a short wedding trip.

Dear Abby

'Fallen Or Slipped' Neither Is Fair

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our pastor said in a sermon recently that the white wedding gown and veil should be denied the unchaste bride. I know he felt compelled to preach a sermon on this topic because he has been put in the embarrassing position lately of having to baptize the babies of "brides" whom he had married in white bridal costumes only five and six months earlier. He said that our young people should know that there are penalties for unchastity and rewards for purity.

I would like to ask if this applies only to women. How about the men? Should we not expect them to be chaste as well? And what should the penalty be for a man if he is not? We hear so much about the "fallen woman." How about the fallen man?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: I know it's unfair, but somehow the men seem to escape the stigma. The unchaste woman has "fallen." The unchaste man has merely "slipped."

DEAR ABBY: A very attractive young woman has come to town from a foreign country. The trouble is — she doesn't speak a word of English. I am very much attracted to her, and if I can read the universal language in her eyes, she seems to be attracted to me, too. How can I communicate with her if she makes no effort whatsoever to learn my language?

SMITTEN

DEAR SMITTEN: Learn hers.

DEAR ABBY: My husband doesn't believe in having any friends except "business friends." He's a junior executive with an ad agency, and almost every night of the week we have to entertain people who might be able to do him some good. Don't young married people ever socialize with people just because they like them? I suggested inviting a very attractive couple across the hall in for dinner, and my husband said, "Don't start up with them. He's only an insurance salesman and he can't do me any good!" Is it a wife's obligation to confine her social life to her husband's business friends?

HELPMATE

DEAR HELPMATE: If a woman is married to a man who must entertain for business reasons, she should cooperate, and do it graciously. But for a man to limit his social life to only those who can "do him some good" is both selfish and calculating. And one who goes through life with a "what - can-he-do-for-me" attitude misses one of man's greatest pleasures — friends for friendship's sake. You can help your husband by building his self - confidence. And by telling him that no one succeeds in business without really trying. But some people try too hard.

Problems? Write to ABBY, c/o News-Star. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hints From Heloise

Use Plastic Bags For Messy Grass Clippings

By Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise: You know those plastic bags that are over your clothes when you get 'em back from the cleaners?

By golly, I learned that you could tie a knot in one end and put all of your grass clippings in them. Do this when you rake or trim the lawn, or empty the grass catcher on your lawn mower.

I found that if you have to keep the bag a few days, it is good to punch a few holes in it. On garbage collection day, lay the tied, filled bag next to your garbage can, and the collector will pick it up.

The idea of this is to keep your garbage can from getting too full. And, do any of us have enough garbage cans?

Mr. Gardener

Dear Heloise: I was filling my fountain pen on my dining room table (of all places) when the "phone rang. In my haste to answer it, I knocked over the bottle of ink on my lovely flowered tablecloth.

By the time I finished the conversation, the ink had really set in my cloth.

I hope you can tell me how to remove the stains.

Belinda

To remove ink, pour cleaning fluid through the stain, or soak in the fluid. Rub until all stains leave. Or, apply synthetic detergent on material and allow to set 15 minutes.

Commercial rust removers are useful if any stains remain. Remaining traces of ink can also be removed with bleach, or sponging with one part alcohol and two parts water works on some fabrics if the above are applicable to your material.

Some people soak the garment in milk overnight. This works for me.

Always be sure to SPOT TEST first and to follow instructions and cautions on the container.

Heloise

'Letter Of Laughter
Dear Heloise: Thank you for making me think!

Helen

I find it pretty hard to think sometimes, myself!

Heloise

Dear Heloise: Here's a new wrinkle for cooking:

If you have no wire racks for cooling, accordion pleat a sheet of heavy aluminum foil with your finger tips. (Two sheets together will make a stronger rack.)

It's great! And, no racks to wash!

Mrs. C. E. Manion

Dear Heloise: Don't throw away those full-skirted dresses when the tops become frayed, too small, or out-of-style.

They can be put to so many uses, and you save lots of money.

You can make pillow cases, cushions, aprons, lots of pin cushions for gifts, baby clothes, laundry bags, shoe holders (the kind you hang on closet doors), bathroom or kitchen curtains, etc., etc.

Rosa Baker

Dear Heloise: When taking several long trips by car, we found this a desirable substitute for carrying soft drinks:

We take a large thermos of ice water (heavy on the ice at first), disposable spoons, paper cups, and packets of instant ice tea and powdered soft drink mixes (in jars or packages).

When a drink is needed, the children can mix whatever flavor they wish to suit their tastes (and ours) with the cold ice water from the thermos.

By making it up in small cups, and not filling them too full, we've had fewer spills, and the ice water stays cold longer than bottled drinks.

Living Out Of Bag Easy If You Know How

Planning for a vacation trip brings to mind not only the happy carefree days ahead but the best way of packing your bag so that living out of a suitcase will be easy.

Packing a suitcase can be a simple matter. And, since the same principles apply for any size bag — weekend or fortnight — once you can pack one suitcase properly, you can pack whatever type luggage desired, observes Anne Winfield, home adviser.

Like most rules in life, you start at the bottom, placing heavy articles like shoes and purses at the back. This is done so that when the case is upright, the heavy items will not bear down on crushables. Stuff the space inside the shoes and purses with stockings, bras, sieres, panties, small belts. It's a good idea to put the shoes in plastic bags, so they won't soil your clothes. Stockings that don't fit in your purses or shoes should go into plastic bags so that they won't snag. Roll lingerie, (it takes less room), and tuck into corners or spaces that need filling. This will prevent your clothes from shifting when the bag is tossed about.

When folding clothes, place a sheet of tissue over a dress and fold right over it, then the dress will not wrinkle. This will save hours of ironing.

Toiletries and cosmetics should be placed in a cosmetic case and put along the back or sides of your bag. Empty contents of glass bottles into plastic ones. Next, stack blouses, nightgowns and sweaters into little heaps. Try to even out the mounds to the same height. Fill the spaces in between with gloves and scarfs.

Alternate the collars of blouses or jackets, one facing toward one end of the suitcase, the next the other, otherwise the pile will be a couple of inches higher at one end.

Here is a clever tip: Cut a piece of corrugated cardboard to fit the length and width of your luggage. Place it on top of the layer of clothes already in there and use it as a shelf on which to pack your dresses, skirts, jackets and robe. Then you can simply lift these articles from the suitcase all at once, ready for hanging, when the shelf is removed. This will also help you to find things in the bottom of the bag without endless searching and rumpling.

One last word of advice: Stocking up on toiletries, cosmetics and wardrobe in advance guarantees against missing necessities and avoids the higher prices usually charged at resorts, concludes the adviser.

Pickets Thwarted At U.N. Speaking

AN FRANCISCO (AP) — The arrival of President Johnson to address the United Nations 20th anniversary session in the Opera House came as an anti-climax for the 1,000 pickets gathered across the street.

The demonstrators had been on hand since early morning, but when the President arrived most of them were unaware of it because lines of mounted police kept them across the street while a throng of onlookers blocked their view.

When word finally filtered back to the pickets that the President was already inside, most began to pack up their signs and prepared to leave.

They had signs urging an end to the war in Viet Nam and protesting the presence of U.S. forces in the Dominican Republic.

Counter pickets had been expected but none were evident.

CLEANING HINT

The drip pan in your cooking range should be removed once in a while for washing in hot sudsy water. Between washings, wipe it clean with a well-lathered cloth or sponge.

worried about age?

here's truth about hormones for face, neck and hands

NEW YORK (Special) — Reams have been written about hormones. Will they make women of 75 look 16 again? Absolutely not. Will they make women of 60 feel like they were 20 again?

To know the truth about hormones you need to learn just two simple facts: (1) The beauty of a woman's skin starts breaking down as signs of age begin, because the female organs fail to supply enough estrogenic hormones to feed the skin—less and less as you grow older. (2) Estrogenic hormones can be supplied to the skin by rubbing on a penetrating formula containing the hormones.

Here is a test reported in a scientific journal, one of many that showed similarly sensational results: Twenty-five women applied hormones to one side of the face and neck, and to one hand. On the other side and the other hand, a similar preparation containing no hormones was applied the same way.

These are the reports in simple words: Skin lines (or dry-skin wrinkles) quickly dimmed or disappeared from sight as creases and hollows filled out.

Blotches and "old-age freckles" faded on hands, face and neck. Skin was softer, clearer, seemed

Double Ring Vows Unite Area Couple

With gladioli and stock in fan shaped arrangements flanked the altar of the Jonesboro Methodist Church for the wedding Sunday, June 13 of Miss Dianne Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, and Michael Garrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Railey Garrett both of Jonesboro. Completing the setting were arched wrought iron candelabrum entwined with ivy holding cathedral candles.

Miss Debbie Williams, niece of the groom, lighted the candles. She was wearing an aqua silk gown.

A concert of organ music was rendered by Mrs. Joseph Key as guests were seated by the ushers, Terry Ewing, Howard Stucky and Mack Alexander. Soloist was Miss Martha Kay Dollar.

The Rev. J. T. Caskey of Alexandria performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father was gown in a floor length model of peau de soie and Alencon lace. The paneled front and long tapered sleeves were embellished with appliques of lace, re-embroidered with crystals and seed pearls. The wide chapel train swept from a back bow. Her bouffant veil of bridal illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white stock and feathered carnations, centered with white orchids.

Preceding the bride was the flower girl, Libby Garrett, wearing a full length dress of white dotted swiss, carrying a white basket filled with pink rose buds.

Mrs. Madison Powell of Shreveport served the bride as matron of honor, with Miss Dale Stewart of Hodge, and Miss Violet Farley as bridesmaids. They carried long stem pink roses tied with tulle ribbon, and were wearing identical gowns of aqua brocade. Their head pieces were self fabric circlets with matching veils.

Attending the groom was David Garrett of Baton Rouge as best man, with John Paul Garrett of Dallas, Texas and James Kennedy as groomsmen.

Mrs. Smith was wearing for her daughter's wedding a dress of beige silk with green accessories. Mrs. Garrett wore a dress of pale green linen and lace with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of green orchids.

Following the wedding, the bride's parents entertained in the reception rooms. The bride's table was covered with a floor-length ruffled white cloth. Centerpiece was a bisque cupid figurine holding an arrangement of which stock and roses flanked by four burning tapers.

The tiered wedding cake adorned with white doves and wedding bells was served from one end of the table by Mrs. Cleveland Alexander, and at the opposite end of the table, Mrs. James Rasbury presided over the crystal punch service.

Miss Joyce Alexander registered guests in the bride's book. Massive arrangements of magnolias were used throughout the reception rooms. A background of piano music was rendered by Mrs. Joseph Key.

Tea girls were Debbie Williams, Jane Horton and Meredith Brady. Others assisting in the courtesies were Miss Effie Smart, Mrs. Morrell Cox, Mrs. John Paul Garrett and Mrs. Bill Williams.

For their wedding trip to Florida the bride wore a two-piece yellow linen suit with white accessories, and the white orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return, the couple will be at home in West Monroe.

Rehearsal Supper

Mr. and Mrs. Railey Garrett honored their son and his fiancée at a rehearsal supper on the eve of their wedding Saturday June 12.

The U-shaped table was decorated with sprays of ivy and

Desk Rifling Termed Internal Party Feud

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman Ray C. Bliss has dismissed the desk-rifling incident as an internal problem that has been alleviated.

Bliss said Friday he has not made up his mind whether to bring before the National Committee his dismissal of William Cody Kelly, his chief aide, for ransacking the desk of finance director Frank J. Kovac.

The committee meets on Monday.

"This is an internal problem of the kind that organizations and businesses have at times," Bliss said in an interview. "It has been solved and I don't want to comment on it further."

Bliss also declined comment on Kelly's assertion that the chairman first had praised him for his search of Kovac's desk and then had announced he had fired him.

Kelly said he resigned voluntarily out that Bliss made it clear he was discharged. Bliss had said he demanded Kelly's resignation because he had acted "contrary to standards which I have established for my staff."

Kelly said in a telegram to committee members he broke into the desk because he suspected Kovac of spying for Barry Goldwater, the 1964 GOP presidential nominee.

Bliss was silent on this aspect of the affair. Nor would the chairman comment on speculation that he would ask the national committee for a vote of confidence on his handling of the affair.

The chairman said he will report to the committee on the progress he has made in the last 90 days since he took over from Dean Burch, a Goldwater protégé.

Reluctant Lieutenant Refuse Jungle Battle

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — Lt. Richard Steinke, 27, Milwaukee, Wis., was convicted Friday of refusing to join a counter guerrilla unit in South Viet Nam. He could get up to five years imprisonment.

The lieutenant, who was graduated 55th in the 600-man West Point Class of 1962, contended he disagreed with U.S. policy in Viet Nam and that the war there "is not worth one American life."

A U.S. general court-martial headed by Col. John Beebe of Los Angeles, deliberated less than an hour.

The court will reconvene Saturday when defense counsel Capt. Conrad Courtney, Oak Park, Ill., will plead for leniency.

The board could sentence Steinke to dismissal from the service, forfeiture of all pay and allowances and five years at hard labor at the maximum.

Steinke, also a graduate of Army guerrilla and airborne schools at Ft. Bragg, N.C., had been in Viet Nam since July 1964.

After completing a brief course in directing civil affairs in combat zones, he was ordered to join a Special Forces "A" team in the remote jungle-bound camp of Gia Vac. He refused to accept the assignment.

The commanding officer at the time, Lt. Col. Charles E. Spraggins, Arlington, Va., testified he put an order in writing for Steinke to board a plane from Saigon bound for Gia Vac Jan. 31 after various senior officers failed to sway the lieutenant's announced decision not to go.

Spraggins, key witness at the trial, termed his reaction at the time as one of amazement. He said that "only once in my lifetime have I ever been confronted with this type of case."

Following Steinke's refusal he was turned over to an Army psychiatrist in Saigon, who said the lieutenant was legally sane but experienced "difficulty getting adjusted."

Man Sentenced To 90-Day Term On Theft Count

A Monroe man, James Jordan, was sentenced to serve 90 days for theft Friday in Fourth District Court.

Jordan, 3906 Webster St., was charged with theft of a window fan.

In other action, Charles Ray Wesson, Shreveport, was sentenced to a six-month jail term, suspended, for two counts of defrauding an innkeeper.

Four persons were fined for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages. They were Ben E. Drummond of Malakoff, Tex., Claude Edward Landers of 113 Jewel St., Longview, Tex., C. W. Winborne Jr. of 1410 Hinton St., West Monroe, and Joe Lee Johnson of 129 Pink St., West Monroe. All were fined $300 and costs on the count.

Winborne was also given 30 days in jail for driving with a revoked driver's license, and Johnson was fined a total of $50 and costs on charges for no driver's license and resisting an officer.

Bond was called on William Clifford Collins of 1710 S. 3rd St., Monroe, when he failed to answer a charge of DWI.

Set for Friday but reset for Sept. 10 were the DWI trials of Joe G. Gilbert of 1704 S. 6th St., Monroe, and Ernest W. Toms of 306 Orange St., Monroe. Both had pleaded not guilty earlier.

Remanded to the Ouachita Parish jail until Monday for sentencing on a charge of theft was John M. Hebert, no permanent address listed other than Monroe. Hebert pleaded guilty.

Set for trial Oct. 13 on a charge of theft of a boat valued at $100 was William Fenton McDaniel, Grayson.

Set for Oct. 14 were John A. Green, 705 Wilmuth St., Monroe, theft; and Robert E. Parker, Caroline Hotel, West Monroe, issuing a worthless check.

Joyce A. Lowe, Ruston, was set for trial Oct. 15 on four counts of forgery.

Also set for Oct. 15 was Sybille Louise Woods, over the levee at 3700 S. Grand St., Monroe. She is charged with arson.

Curtis Tarver, Beaumont, Tex., was set for trial Oct. 11 for theft of an auto valued at $833.28.

WOULD PUNISH ALLIES

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany's defense minister, Kai-Uwe von Hassel, told Parliament the government is looking into possibilities of having German courts try and severely punish Allied soldiers who handle ammunition recklessly.

A questioning member had told him a 14-year-old girl was badly injured by a mislaid poison gas cartridge recently and two American soldiers were caught on a hand grenade fishing expedition.

Nuclear Power Could Be Used For Navigation

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Gov. John McKeithen and a group of scientists told Friday of the use of nuclear generated electricity to power navigation aids on an offshore oil and gas platform in the Gulf of Mexico.

Officials of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, the Louisiana Board of Nuclear Energy and Phillips Petroleum Co. joined in telling of the oversized, atomic flashlight at McKeithen's news conference.

Cost of fuels used to make the experimental atomic generator was set at $400,000, but scientists said later costs may be trimmed to $25,000 or $35,000.

The atomic generator went into unattended operation June 21 on a Phillips Petroleum Co. platform 81 miles southwest of Morgan City, La., and 60 miles off Cameron, La.

Scientists said this was the first commercial use of an isotope generator. There has been military and government use of such generators.

The device is known as SNAP-7F. SNAP means Systems for nuclear Auxiliary Power, which is the AEC's program to develop compact, lightweight, reliable nuclear electric devices for space, sea and land uses.

The electrical power for the Phillips platform navigational aids was supplied earlier by diesel generators.

The AEC said the five-year design life of the nuclear generator far exceeds that currently available with diesel generators and battery systems generally used on such platforms, both of which require frequent servicing.

Under a two-year cooperative program with Phillips, the AEC installed the generator. The AEC said the government-industry program was set up under a no-cost research and development contract between the AEC and Phillips.

The firm's participation in the program is in behalf of the Offshore Operators Committee, a trade association representing all offshore oil and gas producers operating in the Gulf.

Explosion Tears Shops To Shreds

MELROSE, Mass. (AP) — Five new shops in a shopping center were left a mess of rubble, twisted girders and broken glass Friday by an explosion.

The early morning blast ripped through the stores, two of which opened for business only the day before. Damage was estimated at more than $1 million.

No one was injured.

Fire Chief Sidney Field said "If this had happened five hours later, at least a hundred persons would have been killed."

Cause of the blast was not determined. An investigation was begun by state and local officials.

Kenyatta Degree

CAMBRIDGE, England (AP) — His English mother and four members of the Kenya delegation to the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference looked on Friday as Peter Kenyatta, 22, son of President Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya was graduated from Cambridge University.

Firm Gets Penalty For Fake Diet Pill

NEW YORK (AP) — A Manhattan advertising agency was fined $50,000 Friday for promoting a worthless no-diet reducing pill through rigged television commercials and false newspaper and magazine layouts. The loss to the public was placed at $16 million.

The three major television networks, as well as the news, depicted as victims misled by false claims for the weight pills.

Federal prosecution of the advertising firm of Kastor, Hilton, Chesley, Clifford and Atherton, Inc., was described by the government as the first crack-down of its kind on fraudulent television advertising.

In addition to the agency, John Andreadis, 53, who marketed the pills under the trade name "Regimen Tablets," was fined $50,000 and sentenced to 18 months in prison. His firm, Drug Research Corp., was fined $53,000.

Federal Judge John R. Bartels imposed the fines and sentences, but stayed them pending appeals.

Kastor, Hilton said in a statement that the conviction and fine "if permitted to stand, subjects all advertising agencies to criminal responsibility for reliance upon a client's representations and materials."

In a 13-week trial that ended with a jury conviction May 6, government witnesses testified the pills were worthless, but that the advertising campaign claimed overweight persons could lose many pounds without dieting by taking the appetite depressors.

Millions of television viewers watched commercials in which models posed as beneficiaries of weight loss due to regimen tablets. Actually, the models testified at the trial, they slimmed down by means of strenuous diets and special medication.

Authorities said four million boxes of the pills were sold to the public over a six-year period before the government forced them off the market.

Electrocution Accident Victim Still Hospitalized

RUSTON (Special) — Mark Austin, 30-year-old Ruston man who was injured late Thursday by electrocution near Farmerville, was reported late Friday to be in serious condition at Ruston Memorial Hospital.

Two Negroes were killed and two Negroes injured in the same accident in which Austin was involved.

The Union Parish sheriff's department identified the dead men as Larry Mayfield and George Jenkins, both about 18 of Choudrant. The two Negroes injured were George Benton and Ernest Jones, also of Choudrant.

According to a spokesman at the sheriff's office, the men had finished loading crates of chickens on a truck at the Lavelle Albright farm five miles east of Farmerville on the Sterling Road when the accident occurred.

One of the workers threw a chain used in binding the crates down over the load on the truck. It struck a power line overhead as the other men were binding the remainder of the chains down.

Mayfield and Jenkins were killed immediately as contact was made between the chain and the power line, authorities said.

The three injured men were rushed to a Farmerville clinic and later transferred to the Ruston hospital.

Attorney To Seek Capital Penalty For Duane Pope

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — United States attorney Theodore Richling said Friday he intends to seek the death penalty for Duane Earl Pope, accused of one of the bloodiest bank robberies in history.

Pope is charged with the robbery of the Farmers State Bank of Big Springs, Neb., June 4, in which three persons — including the bank president — were slain, and a fourth wounded. The federal statute under which he is charged permits the death penalty if the trial jury specifies it.

Richling told a federal judge of his intention during a hearing which former Nebraska Gov. Robert B. Crosby of Lincoln and Wallace M. Rudolph of the University of Nebraska law school faculty were appointed defense attorneys.

Pope, lanky 22-year-old former McPherson (Kan.) college football star, said little during his appearance in court.

Sales Manager Jaycee Leader

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A sales manager Friday was elected national president of the U.S. Jaycees after a 13-ballot battle which climaxed the organization's 45th national convention.

James A. Skidmore Jr. of Brick Township, N.J., emerged the victor, by a rollcall vote of 1,774 to 1,771, over Dr. Fred C. Rainey, 34, a physician from Elizabethtown, Ky.

E. Larry Moles, 35, of Lima, Ohio; Frank Brawner, 32, of Portland, Ore., and William W. Suttle, 31, of Marion, S.C., dropped out in earlier balloting. Skidmore, employed by the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co., succeeded R. Stanley Ladley of Bartlesville, Okla., as head of the 250,000-member community service organization for men aged 21-35.

Cotton Plan Opinions Split

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Allen J. Ellender, D-La., of the Senate Agriculture Committee said Friday he has found the rice industry united but the cotton industry in wide disagreement over what is needed in the way of legislation.

The rice industry, he said, is virtually unanimous in opposing the administration's new rice plan while various segments of the cotton industry have "widely divergent views" as to the program best suited for that commodity.

Ellender's committee is in the most of hearings on various farm bills, including the administration's proposals.

Most of the testimony by spokesmen for the rice industry, he said, has been directed against the certificate program proposed in the administration bill for rice.

"The administration has indicated that the effect of the certificate program would be to reduce the cost to the government and maintain farm income," Ellender said in a talk recorded for broadcast in Louisiana.

"However, industry testimony indicated that while the certificate program conceivably would reduce government costs, it is feared that farm income would be impaired and that the domestic consumption of rice would be reduced because of the higher prices associated with 100 per cent of parity."

As to cotton, Ellender said Louisiana producers "testified that in their opinion the 1958 law, as modified by a domestic allotment program, would be best suited to their long-term interests."

The 1958 law was set aside last year for a two-year, one-price cotton program.

Ellender observed "I have always felt that if the 1958 law had been administered as Congress had intended there would be no problem in cotton today."

He noted that cotton merchants propose that producers sell on the world market and receive a direct payment; that the mills are interested chiefly in retaining the one-price program, and that other programs have been suggested.
